In Brief

A winner

Pam Toporek of Romulus accepts check for $380 after winning half of proceeds from 50-50 raffle drawing in behalf of the Muscular Dystrophy Association at the recent Wayne County 4-H Fair in Van Buren Township. The remaining half of proceeds from ticket sales went to help the MDA.

The city of Romulus is teaming up with the Romulus Community Schools for a public auction, scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 27, 1980 at noon at Fire Station No. 1, located next to the Recreation Department.

The following is a sample of the items being offered to the highest bidder: obsolete fire fighting equipment, including gas masks, helmets, hose, boots and two fire trucks; several vehicles, including two 2½ ton dump trucks and six ½ ton pickups; a variety of business machines and calculators; several hundred school desks and chairs, a 1943 bulldozer; a refrigerator, deep freeze, gas stove, window air conditioner, law books, an auger machine, an air compressor, a mailing machine and much more.

Newly-revised and reprinted city guides-maps are now available in the Public Information Office at the Romulus City Hall, 11111 Wayne Rd. They contain useful information about the city, in addition to a complete street index. The guides are free to Romulus residents. The cost to non-residents is 50 cents.

Applications are now being accepted for police reserve officers for the city of Romulus, according to Mayor William Oakley.

The police reserve program was started five years ago and has proven to be a positive way of supporting the sheriff's patrol in the city, in addition to performing community relations.

Those citizens selected will be required to undergo 80 hours of training at the Sheriff's Academy and agree to work 8 hours per month helping the sheriff's patrol. The reserves work under the direction and control of the Wayne County Sheriff and their performance must reflect the professionalism of the department.

If you are interested in being selected, you can pick up an application at the Sheriff's Romulus Division, 34100 Goddard. For additional information, call 942-9660.

Residents don't like smell of proposed compost plant

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Gasoline and fire don't mix, as Romulus City Council found out to its sorrow last Wednesday night.

Gasoline, in this instance, was a public hearing by council and a site plan review by the Planning Commission, both on the same night and on the same volatile issue — a proposed sludge recovery plant in Romulus.

Fire was the more than 300 irate residents who turned out to angrily protest a sludge plant in their community.

The explosion produced was resentment when the Planning Commission tabled action for the proposal by DetRo Recovery of Detroit, pending research by its attorney on a legal aspect.

The first portion of the public hearing heard several residents speak against the proposed sludge recovery plant. With a multitude of speakers yet scheduled to be heard, the council passed a motion by Council Ed Rush to recess the session in favor of the site plan review meeting by the Planning Commission.

After listening to a battery of environmental scientists representing DetRo, the firm's attorney, Eleanor Cottrell, and Ed Bell, prominent former Wayne County judge and Detroit attorney the commission gave its decision.

It ruled that in order to build its plant, DetRo would have to have its site west of the C & O Railroad and south of Ecorse Road rezoned from

M-1 (light industrial) to M-2 (heavy industrial). The commission found that operation of a composting operation, and subsequent mixing of wood chips with that material to form fertilizer, was not permitted under M-1 zoning, now in effect on most of the 133 acres of the firm's proposed site.

At this point, Cottrell said her research showed that an old lawsuit, Mendrek vs. city of Romulus, contained an order by the presiding judge that zoned the land M-2.

The commission voted to table action on the site plan review and instructed its attorney to research the matter and report back with his findings.

Had Cottrell not introduced this information, the commission would have had DetRo apply for rezoning of its site, according to cite ordinance procedures.

Although Council Chairman Mary Ann Banks explained the public hearing was an opportunity for residents to provide input "for or against" the fertilizer plant, it was evident that almost everyone present was opposed to its construction in the city.

Prior to protest speeches by city residents, several persons gave short verbal reports on a tour of a smaller similar sludge recovery plant in Beltsville, Md. They were invited on the recent tour, all expenses paid, by DetRo.

Most voiced opposition to the Romulus plant based on what they saw and smelled on the trip to Maryland.

Banks said what she found out during the tour was not favorable and said she was against the plant being built in the city.

Councilman Junior Block, however, said he "didn't have all the answers" and was undecided at the present time.

Rush said that the sludge that would be processed in the Romulus plant was not the same as that handled in Maryland. He claimed that sludge from Detroit (actually from 76 communities but ending up in Detroit) was made up in part of industrial materials waste that contained heavy metals.

These metals, Rush emphasized, are detrimental to human health and contaminate drinking water. He cautioned against putting council in a situation like that in Van Buren Township recently where the township board was jailed for refusing to obey a judge's order.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry said that since he has served on council the city has "always been fighting landfills". He cited the battle to have Trouton Drain cleaned and to have Chemical Recovery Systems stopped by the state from polluting the area nearby.

Raspberry said he would "go along" with what the people wanted.

Another resident, Diane Tryon, turned in and council accepted a petition signed by 1,759 citizens who opposed the plant's construction.

The resident claimed she and her friends obtained the list of names "easily" last week.

Council also accepted a large number of written statements from residents who voiced opposition to the proposed plant.

Rep. Edward Mahalak, whose district includes Romulus, distributed copies of a four-page statement which he read in full to the audience.

His statement expressed strong disapproval of the sludge recovery plant and questioned what effect it would have on the health of nearby residents, market value of their properties, and advocated an alternative solution for disposal of the sludge accumulated in Detroit.

Jean Voight, long active in speaking out on city and school issues, said the tour arranged by DetRo turned her against a larger plant in Romulus. She said not one person on her block was for the plant.

Mrs. Voight said a pile of sludge at the Maryland plant, which measured about 150 feet long, 10 feet high, and 2 feet across, represented

Detro pleads its case

DetRo Recovery of Detroit, the firm that wants to build a plant in Romulus that makes fertilizer out of sewage and industrial sludge, Wednesday night explained its proposed facility and operation.

During the company's site plan review hearing before the city Planning Commission, Eleanor Cottrell, DetRo attorney, stressed that DetRo "is not a city of Detroit project."

Cottrell said the company was a "private, for-profit corporation" that had no ties to Detroit "at present". She said the firm wanted to build a composting operation, not a landfilling facility, and advocated it to be the best way to get rid of waste from 76 communities whose sludge ended up in Detroit.

The attorney said the Beltsville, Md. plant toured recently by more than 20 city officials and residents was "more primitive and more exposed" than what DetRo is proposing for Romulus.

Cottrell explained that the operation of transforming sludge into a "soil conditioner" was part of a recycling process to get rid of waste materials.

She also stressed that part of the sludge from the 76 communities came from the city of Romulus.

Ken Pearceall, DetRo president, presented a battery of environmental scientists and engineers to explain the composting operation that the company would be performing in Romulus.

Information presented cited composting as a process known since before the time of the ancient Romans. As described in the dictionary, composting is a method of letting leaves and other material decay to form fertilizer.

DetRo claimed it was more hazardous to operate a landfill than to operate a sludge recovery plant, referring to the many landfills formerly located on and near their proposed 133-acre site west of the C & O Railroad and south of Ecorse Road.

To support its contention, DetRo showed a film made of Mendrek's Commercial Dump, which occupies about 40 acres of the total parcel wanted by the company for its plant.

The film showed old car, truck and bus bodies lying on top of the ground, a large pool of stagnant water, a pile of broken concrete, thousand of wooden pallets piled 10 to 15 feet high, old appliances such as stoves and refrigerators, and other trash and rubbish.

During its presentation, the company said it would build a 6-foot high berm around those portions of the property not shielded from view by natural landscaping, and also would landscape other areas where it is needed.

DetRo admitted that the raw sludge and leachate in its process had an odor, but that the wood chips mixed later with sludge and the completed fertilizer product did not smell.

The firm said their method to dry out sludge at the Romulus plant would differ from Beltsville where it is dumped on the ground and liquids allowed to drain into the soil.

Proposed for their Romulus plant,

Petition against sludge plant

Diane Tryon (above, at microphone) was one of a long list of Romulus residents who appeared last Tuesday in Council chambers to voice their objections to a proposed $13.7 million compost plant which needs Council and planning commission approval to go ahead with the project. The firm would make fertilizer out of residential and industrial sludge which comes from Detroit and 76 communities including Romulus. Below, Mrs. Tryon hands a petition containing the names of 1,759 residents who oppose the construction to Council Chairperson and Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks.

Council approves $30,000 grant for Henry Ruff Park improvement

Romulus City Council last week approved application by the city for a $30,000 grant to improve Henry Ruff Park.

Patrick Hogan, community development director, was authorized to submit the application. Funds would go to build two tennis courts, to erect a permanent land and water conservation plaque, and to perform an archeological survey.

Council also okayed a brush pickup schedule for the next two week period for the following areas: Beverly Road east of Wayne Road; the subdivision on Beverly Road between Merriman and Inkster roads.

Upon recommendation of Mayor William M. Oakley, council adopted a resolution to make Bob Brueck an honorary citizen of Romulus.

Brueck, a resident of Northville, is retiring as industry government community relations administrator for the Detroit Diesel Allison plant operated in Romulus by the General Motors Corp.

During the audience portion of the meeting, Lawrence Plank, complained that a dog belonging to his neighbor, Ray Zuke, a sheriff's deputy, was running at large in violation of the city's animal control ordinance.

Plank said he felt favoritism was shown to his neighbor because of his job as a law enforcement officer. He said he had tried for over a year to get something done.

Efforts made to find the dog running loose proved futile by the city's animal control officer until recently when Zuke was ticketed by Victor Parker, ordinance officer, who chanced to see the animal not tied up or on a leash.

Plank told council that he had also filed a complaint in 34th District Court against Zuke charging him with violation of the city ordinance.

Zuke will appear in District Court to answer both charges.

DAV message: 'Forget-me-not'

By SUE McDONALD
ANP News Editor

"Forget me not" says what it means. Forget me not: I served for this country."

That's the message members of Wayne Chapter 120 of Disabled American Veterans (Day) are hoping to get across to area residents next week. The veterans, along with members of the chapter's Ladies Auxiliary, will be out in force as part of their week-long Forget Me Not fund raiser.

In exchange for contributions, the DAV members will be giving residents small blue and yellow forget-me-not flowers, made by disabled veterans, living in Veteran Administration hospitals in the area. The campaign will be Monday through next Friday, and according to Harold Kingsley, DAV chapter commander, the money raised helps provide "a little visit, a little cheering up" for hospitalized veterans.

The DAV was founded in Cincinnati, Ohio, at the end of World War I, and its membership is open to veterans disabled during a time of war.

The Wayne chapters has 406 members, most coming from Wayne, Westland, Taylor, Canton Township, Belleville and Romulus. While the chapter's leaders are pleased with the size of the membership, they want more members. Specifically, they want disabled veterans who served in the Korean War and the Vietnam Conflict.

According to Helen Scarford, past adjutant of the Ladies Auxiliary, they're trying "to keep the brotherhood alive."

"When you're in the service, your buddy is your buddy," she explained. "We're trying to keep that brotherhood alive."

"We're trying to get younger people involved in the organization; we're getting old and we don't want it to die out."

Admittedly, the organization is having a difficult time attracting young veterans, especially those who fought in Vietnam. When asked why, Mrs. Scarford responded: "They're hurt. They feel they served no purpose in their fighting. They feel their cause was a lost cause."

Kingsley added that Vietnam vets are "clannish", but admits that veterans of the "big war" weren't all that hospitable to those returning from southeast Asia.

"We had the entire concept of war in World War II, something the Vietnam veterans didn't have," Kingsley said. "Now they're very bitter."

The chapter would like to attract the "new blood" and get younger veterans interested in visiting disabled veterans in the VA hospital in Allen Park. DAV volunteers work one day a week at the hospital, providing an escort service for patients, "taking them wherever they need to go" in the hospital.

The chapter also hosts Bingo sessions, sometimes having members stand in the doorways of each room to relay the Bingo number to those patients who are completely bed-ridden.

"There's a lot of hard working people in this chapter," Kingsley said. "They give of themselves for other people. You'd have to belong (to the chapter) to know what they do."

The DAV tries to help disabled vets, many of who can't leave the hospital, "that's their home". All the "work, toil, labor and gas" is donated, according to Kingsley, with 100 percent of the money raised used to help disabled veterans.

The Forget Me Not campaign is the only way the DAV has to obtain extra money to help those in the hospital, and as Mrs. Scarford said: "There's a lot of those men in the hospital and their wants and needs cost money."

The organization has young members, Kingsley emphasized, but the push now is to attract even more. More to "keep the brotherhood alive" ... More "to visit disabled veterans in the hospital" ... more to "do what we can or what they (the disabled veterans) want" ...

Veterans, with at least a 10 percent disability, interested in joining the chapter, can contact Kingsley at 697-8305 or Adjutant Frank Scarford at 697-9264. For information on the auxiliary contact Mrs. Scarford at 697-9264.

The chapter meets on the third Tuesday of the month at the Wayne Community Center, 4635 Howe Road, Wayne, at 7:30 p.m. Dues are $10 per year for men and $5 a year for women.

Pets and animals

By Stanley E. Bartkiewicz, D.V.M.
BARTZ ANIMAL HOSPITAL

Frequent urination and blood in the urine may be signs of a urinary problem. Urinary problems are common in dogs.

There are three things that cause blood in the urine. The most common is an infection of the bladder, then bladder stones, and lastly a tumor.

Frequent urination may be caused by an infection. The dog will feel a burning sensation and feels like it is necessary to urinate often. Anything that occupies space in the bladder will make it necessary for the dog to urinate more than usual.

This extra pressure may come from a pregnancy or tumor in the abdomen.

Problems in other parts of the body can affect urination (i.e., diabetes can increase urination while dehydration will decrease urination). Occasionally, a spayed female dog may urinate when she lays down or sleeps. This may be from too low of an estrogen concentration. Medication may be given to correct an urinary infection or problem with other parts of the body. Sometimes cultures must be taken or medication changed to treat the infection.

Surgery may be performed to remove bladder stones and medication given to help prevent them from reforming. Surgery can also be done to remove a tumor if it is not too large or invasive.

Urinary problems are common but treatment is generally effective and easily administered.

Forget-them-not

The message is clear, and members of Wayne Chapter 120, Disabled American Veterans, is hoping area residents won't forget about those men, who fought for their country and now live in Veterans Administration (VA) hospitals. Chapter and Ladies Auxiliary members will be collecting donations throughout next week, Sept. 8-12, and offering small blue and yellow forget-me-not flowers, made by disabled veterans, as a token of their appreciation. All of the money raised in the campaign goes to help veterans at the VA Hospital in Allen Park. — Story on Page 2.

about 100 tons in weight. She said the proposed plant in Romulus would handle 1,200 tons per day, or 20 times that much.

She said three trucks each carrying 20 tons, bring sludge daily to the Maryland plant. That number would have to be multiplied by 60, making 60 trucks in all, that would bring sludge daily to the Romulus sludge recovery facility.

Children's Hospital is seeking volunteers

Volunteers are needed at Children's Hospital of Michigan (CHM) to provide the extra care that helps to make CHM "a very special place" for sick children and worried parents.

There are more than 30 different volunteer positions for men, women, teenagers, retired folks, working persons, husband and wife teams, college students, widows and widowers. Schedules include daytime, evening and weekend hours.

Opportunities to help range from feeding babies to working in the gift shop; also clerical opportunities in such departments as admitting, emergency room, intensive care and surgical waiting room.

Also needed are teacher and library aides, tour guides, Poison Control Center speakers and Sunday evening entertainers and much more.

All volunteers are carefully trained. New classes will begin in September. For applications or more information, call the CHM volunteer office: 494-5326.

For history's sake

Hugh Hurlburt (right) and Steve Henry readjust tombstones on the Pullen family plot in Romulus City Cemetery as part of a project initiated by the Wesleyan Methodist Church and the Romulus Historical Society. The grave markers are from members of the Romulus area's first residents and date from the middle 1800s. They have gradually sunk below grass level over the years causing cracks to appear. Hurlburt said he also plans to plant some decorative trees on the site. (Photo by Jay Young.)

The Bingham report: 'Land not suitable' for DetRo's project

Several obstacles were cited last week by two city department heads in regard to a proposed sludge recovery plant in Romulus.

Dave Paul, director of public works, and George Bingham, city engineer, presented written reports during Wednesday night's site plan review before the Planning Commission by DetRo Recovery of Detroit.

Paul reported that although existing water lines can be used by the plant in its transformation of Detroit sludge into fertilizer, new sanitary sewers would have to be brought from Ecorse and Washington to the plant site.

Also, Paul stated in his report, storm sewer runoffs must be fully developed and a complete topographical study of the area must be made.

Bingham's report contended that the land wanted by DetRo was "not suitable" for the firm's operation without extensive underground modification.

The engineer's report stated that composting, the method by which DetRo dries out and mixes sludge with wood chips, has been a subject of investigation "for more than a decade".

Bingham also stated that DetRo would have a problem in scaling up the size of its plant from that visited recently in Beltsville, Md. by a group of city officials and residents taken there on a tour by the company.

Bingham also emphasized that DetRo would have to develop a market for the kind of fertilizer it hopes to produce. He claimed the company's product could not compete with current fertilizers and that the result would be sizable accumulation of the fertilizer at DetRo's Romulus facility.

He mentioned several other "environmental problems", but stated they probably could be resolved.

In conclusion, Bingham questioned the depth of DetRo's staff and its financial resources, adding, however, that these items were not the city's responsibility.

Adult ed. opens new locations

Attendance at Romulus adult high school will be more convenient in the fall semester, according to community education director, Bill Smith.

"We are going to offer free classes in several different locations to better serve adults in the Romulus area. Evening classes will again be held at Romulus Senior High, but day classes will be spread out over five different locations."

The Adult Education Center, located in the center of town at 11165 Olive St., will house classes Monday through Friday mornings. A new location in the north end of the city is Beverly Elementary School which will feature a GED Preparation class.

An American Government class will be held at Halecreek Elementary School in the south part of Romulus, as well as an English class at Merriman Elementary School.

Another GED preparation class will meet at the Oakbrooke Townhouse Clubhouse, 15001 Brandt, and will be particularly convenient for residents of the townhouse complex.

Senior citizens in Romulus will be able to take free adult high school classes at the Senior Citizen Center, 36515 Bibbins.

Adult high school classes are free to adults (18 and over) who have not completed high school.

Most students discover that they are closer to graduation than they think since high school credits can be awarded for work experience, military service, GED test results and previous high school classes, Smith said. Anyone interested in returning to school should contact Romulus Adult Education, 941-0610.

Romulus is also an official GED testing center. The GED test is a high school equivalency exam which will be given free to students who register for adult high school before Sept. 12. Otherwise, the testing fee is $20.

A wide variety of hobby classes are offered for adults on a nightly basis at Romulus Senior High. Activities include sewing, disco dance, welding, crocheting, auto repair and first aid.

Small fees are charged to cover the cost of instruction and further information is available at Romulus Adult Education, 941-0610.

Summer ends with a senior picnic

Some 35 Romulus senior citizens, all members of Club No. 1, enjoyed an end-of-summer-picnic at Elmer Johnson Park recently. The group plans monthly activities that include potluck dinners, craft classes and square dancing.

For more information about the group and its schedule, call the Recreation Department at 941-0666. (Photo by Jay Young.)

Best way to get rid of waste

DetRo pleads its case

DetRo said, would be the dumping of sludge into large underground hoppers. Air would be drawn back inwardly through the drying sludge and discharged through carbon filters that would cleanse it of all odors.

DetRo said citizen concern about land water contamination would be met by having liquids from the sludge drain into a contact retention basin and then pumped into sewer lines.

Only small quantities of the finished fertilizer product would be sold on the premises, the company said, explaining that the bulk would be shipped to other areas for use.

Because of the heavy metal content in sludge being received, DetRo said its fertilizer would not be used in growing of vegetables and foodstuffs, but rather on such projects as growing grass and shrubs on roadsides.

DetRo said buildings on its site would include those for administration, for sales, and for on-site maintenance.

DetRo said it would take about four weeks for the composting process to take place, after which the material would be moved to an intermediate storage area.

Trucks leaving Detroit with sludge and those leaving the DetRo plant in Romulus would be washed down to prevent littering of highways, said the company.

The firm also stressed that the EPA would closely watch and monitor the plant's operation.

Ed Bell, former Wayne County judge and Detroit attorney, cited benefits that would be derived by Romulus from operation of the sludge recovery plant.

Saying he would make his remarks "short and sweet", Bell said the city receives only about $11,600 a year in taxes from the present landowners.

But, he pointed out, Romulus would get a minimum of $1 million per year in tax revenues if DetRo builds and operates its plant in the city.

"The decision is up to you," Bell told the audience.

A voice from the crowd asked the well-known lawyer if he lived in Romulus. He answered, "Of course I don't live in Romulus. But, the waste from Romulus comes to Detroit where I do live."

City awarded state-wide recognition

Beautification Committee campaign is a success

For the second time in two years, the Romulus Beautification Committee has been awarded State-wide recognition by Keep Michigan Beautiful, Inc. for their annual city-wide clean up campaign.

school children and plastic car litter bags donated by the U.S. Brewers Association and containing free marigold seeds, bumper stickers and clean up literature distributed to Romulus homes by area boys and girl scouts.

Midge Prybyla, chairperson of the group, was gratified by the State recognition, and vowed to continue the Committee's outstanding record of community beautification.

Do you want to buy a house?

The Romulus Community Schools is offering its 1980 residential building and construction maintenance class project house to the public for a minimum bid of $63,500, until Monday, Sept. 8.

The home, located at 9511 Cogswell Rd. in Romulus, contains 1512 square feet of living area, has three bedrooms, 2½ baths, living room, family-kitchen area, fireplace, full basement and an attached two-car garage.

Anyone interested in bidding on the home must submit a sealed bid in an envelope marked "Cogswell 1 House Bid" to the board office no later than 3 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 8.

The bids will be opened at 7:30 p.m. that day during the regular board meeting. The successful bidder must be prepared to deposit 10 percent of the bid price within 24 hours, with the balance paid within 45 days.

For further information, contact Al Sheffield at 941-0800.

Corny

This lad is eating his sweet corn like it's going out of style at recent Van Buren Township Family Day at Van Buren Park. He was no different than thousands of other area residents who enjoyed the summertime favorite.

Come on, smile

This young lass doesn't seem to be able to make up her mind whether to be happy or not as she munches on sweet corn and drinks a coke. Scene is from recent Van Buren Township Family Day at Van Buren Park.

Huron offers adult ed. classes in bookkeeping

Huron Adult Education is offering Bookkeeping-Accounting on Monday mornings from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Renton Junior High School. The teacher is Jane Dykowski.

The course covers the basic bookkeeping cycle plus special accounting techniques.

Some of the special areas of study are: checking accounts, bank statements and payroll records. The class runs for two semesters and high school credit is granted.

Students may usually progress as rapidly as they wish on an individual basis.

Progress depends on how much time one wishes to spend on the work. Basically most of the work can be done during the class time.

This is an excellent opportunity for homemakers to refine their bookkeeping techniques and keep their checkbooks balanced — while their children are in school.

Those planning a business career will find the class a good basis for more advanced accounting courses in college. Or, one may have enough basic skill for an entry bookkeeping position.

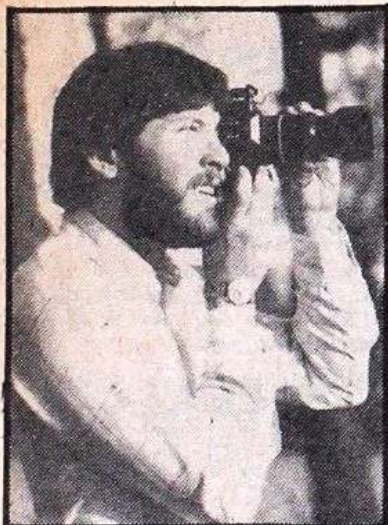

For those employed on an afternoon or midnight shift, this is a good scheduling time to broaden their knowledge and receive high school credit as well.

What the exposure meters are about

By DON GREEN

One of the lesser common types of exposure meters used today is the photoelectric type. These instruments are highly sensitive and very accurate.

DON GREEN

When using the photoelectric meter, the chance of human error is reduced because the meter measures the intensity of light directly and it is not necessary to try to estimate the intensity of light by checking the various conditions existing at the time of exposure.

There are two main types of photoelectric meters: reflected light meters and incident light meters. With the reflected light meter, reflected light is measured by directing the meter towards the scene and measuring the light reflected from the scene.

The meter can be directed towards the subject, depending on the scene photographed, but in either case the sensitive cell is always pointed towards the scene to be photographed.

The incident light meter measures the light falling on the scene. Using this system the meter is held at the position of the camera or near the subject and directed at the camera.

Type O

Chances are that if you have type "O" blood, you think of yourself as having "common" blood. Nearly half the population does have type "O" blood, the most common type. But these people are both common and special.

They are special because type "O" blood is in greater demand since their blood can be used for transfusions for persons who have other blood types. So, instead of thinking of yourself as having common blood, think of yourself as having a "special" blood type.

Requirements to give blood are few and simple. Most people between the ages of 17 (with parental permission) and 66 and in good general health are usually eligible to donate. A blood donation takes less than an hour from the time the donor registers to the post-donation snack in the canteen.

Resident elected to ALA board

The American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan (ALASEM) elected 45 members including a Belleville resident to its Board of Directors at its annual meeting, it was announced by Joseph F. Paulus, president.

Thirty-seven members have been re-elected and eight new directors have been elected for staggered terms on the Board. Among the eight new directors are: Edwin O. George, Mrs. Paul L. Nine and Harold Warren of Bloomfield Hills; Byron MacGregor and Patrick Murtha, R.R.T., of West Bloomfield; J. Douglas Peters, of Belleville; Neil Levy, D.O., of Birmingham; and Thomas J. Strobl, of Grosse Pointe Park.

Joseph F. Paulus of Birmingham is the Lung Association's new president. Other new officers of the American Lung Association include Donald A. Lindow of Grosse Pointe, first vice president; Millie Pastor of Bloomfield Hills, second vice president; and Rod Burton of Grosse Pointe, secretary. C. D. Honkanen of St. Clair Shores was re-elected treasurer of the association.

The American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan is affiliated with the American Lung Association, the oldest and one of the largest voluntary health organizations in the country.

Its community services for the residents of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties include programs for smokers who want to kick-the-habit, a breathing equipment loan program, a camp for children with asthma and self support groups for chronic lung disease patients and their families.

WIDOWS ARE EASY PREY — OR ARE THEY?

Widows must be wary of frauds and schemes. C.O.D. deliveries for clothing, appliances, expensive fishing tackle or "telephone ordered" merchandise and subscriptions are suspect and need not be honored by the widow in most instances.

We have seen published an account of one wise widow who was approached by a publisher's "representative" who wished to include her late husband in a scientists' "Who's Who" book. The text would be $500 and the inclusion of a photo brought it to $750.

The widow agreed to meet with the representative at a certain place, date and time...during office hours at her lawyer's place of business! Having a lawyer expose the fraud neatly saved the widow more than just anxiety and annoyance — it saved her $750!

Professional counselling at law or funeral direction is important to bereaved families. We are pleased to be of service — professionally, in our area of expertise. Call or stop by for information before the need arises.

A new breed of cat

Skogkatts debut on show scene

By KAY DeBORD

Sheila Gira isn't being "proud" when she claims that the two cats she displayed at the Hyatt Regency last weekend are two of the four of their breed in the United States. In fact, she's encouraging other cat fanciers to learn more about Norwegian Forest Cats, also known as "Skogkatt." The male and female she obtained attracted much attention from those showing other breeds at the Mid-Michigan Cat Fanciers Show.

Mrs. Gira read about the breed in Cats Magazine and wrote to the breeder immediately.

"I was fortunate enough to get the very first breeding pair in this country," Mrs. Gira said. The others are females, one in New Jersey and one in St. Louis, Missouri.

According to Mrs. Gira, goals are to establish the breed in this country, to achieve championship status for cat shows and to popularize the breed with the public, as happened with Siamese and Persians.

The cats are a Scandinavian relative of North America's Main Coon cats, also being bred by Mrs. Gira, a licensed animal technician at the Morrison Animal Hospital in Garden City, also a breeder of Colorpoint Siamese for three years.

Larger and heavier than most domestic cats, the Norwegian Forest Cats are shaggy, long-haired, native to the forests of Norway and domesticated by those interested in preserving the breed.

The cats are now five generations domesticated and can in no way be considered "wild" or "feral," Mrs. Gira pointed out.

Tabby is the most common coloring and pattern, but the Skogkatt come in all colors, their double coats oily to repel water.

According to Mrs. Gira, her male cat weighs 15 pounds and at a year old is not considered mature. That comes at three to five years of age. The cats are very muscular, easily groomed and easily kept, with a good, friendly disposition.

Mrs. Gira is hoping that other cat fanciers will become interested in the breed. For information, write "Norwegian Forest Cat Fanciers Association" care of 34435 Lynn Drive, Romulus, Michigan, 48174. Those writing are asked to enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Romulus Rotary plans auction

The Romulus Rotary Club is planning its first annual auction to be held in October and is currently soliciting items to be sold.

According to president Gordon Silvey, the proceeds of the auction will be used to fund the many community projects sponsored by the Rotary Club.

Past projects have included a new senior citizens van, the pavilion at Kennedy Park, contributions to the Romulus Beautification Committee's annual clean-up campaign, support of the Easter Seals Society and many more worthwhile efforts.

Anyone having household items, small appliances, dishes, furniture, tools, toys, decorative items in workable or useable condition please contact one of the following people: Gordon Silvey, 941-2488 after 5 p.m.; Gil White, 337-8525 during the day and Ron Hopson, 941-3635 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Cat fancier — fancy cats

A career with animals as an animal technician at an area veterinary hospital doesn't end with the job for Sheila Gira of Romulus — she has been raising and showing Maine Coon cats and Siamese for three years — and now she also proudly displays two Norwegian Forest cats, also known as "Skogkatt." The male, at left, is a classic tabby in markings, and the female is black and white. The two were among those shown at the Mid-Michigan Cat Fanciers Show held at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn August 16-17.

Motorists urged to drive carefully

An average of five school-aged children were killed or injured daily in pedestrian traffic accidents last year in Michigan and most of those mishaps could have been avoided, if motorists and pupils followed proper safety measures.

"Few things are more tragic than a young life being taken in a needless traffic accident," stated Robert Cullen, Automobile Club of Michigan Safety and Traffic Engineering manager. "Traffic accidents are the major cause of death for children aged one to 14.

"Last year, nearly two-thirds of the 1,879 Michigan pedestrian deaths and injuries to school-aged children occurred to youngsters aged 5 through 9.

There were 125,000 kindergartners going to school for the first time this week, and there were almost one million elementary school pupils crossing streets, roads and highways opening day.

Nearly nine of every 10 pedestrian accidents involving children occur during daylight, dusk or dawn—the hours when many are going to or from school.

"While teachers, traffic engineers, researchers and law enforcement officials have concerned themselves with child pedestrian problems for years, the responsibility for a child's traffic safety education must be carried by his parents," Cullen said.

"Begin teaching your youngster when he begins to walk; don't wait for him to go to school to learn to be a safe pedestrian," he advised. "Lasting good habits of safe walking and riding can be developed before a child enters school."

Auto Club suggests these guidelines for parents:

—Walk your kindergartener to and from school the first few days until the child is familiar with the route.

—Make sure children understand proper pedestrian safety habits such as looking in all directions before walking across an intersection, keeping from between parked cars and obeying safety patrol or crossing guards.

—Choose the safest route for your child even though it may be a little longer. Consideration should be given to streets with low traffic volume and controlled intersections (traffic light, safety patrol, adult crossing guard or police officer).

—Dress children in light-colored clothing for maximum visibility.

—Instruct children always to use the sidewalk or to face traffic when there isn't one to watch for turning cars even when the traffic signal turns green.

"If your child rides a bus," Cullen said, "walk with him to the bus stop and tell him to cooperate with the driver. "Since young children are very impressionable, parents should set a good example by following safe

Smoker Puzzle Solved By Merit Taste.

Research establishes low tar MERIT as proven taste alternative to high tar smoking.

There is a difference between other low tar cigarettes and MERIT—a proven difference.

Tests with thousands of smokers provide solid evidence that MERIT delivers the flavor of high tar brands, and continues to satisfy long term.

Smoker Quest Ends

Blind Taste Tests: In tests where brand identity was concealed, a significant majority of smokers rated the taste of low tar MERIT as good as—or better than—leading high tar brands. Even cigarettes having twice the tar!

Smoker Preference: Among the 95% of smokers stating a preference, the MERIT low tar/good taste combination was favored 3 to 1 over high tar leaders when tar levels were revealed!

Long-Term Satisfaction: In the latest survey of former high tar smokers who have switched to MERIT, 9 out of 10 reported they continue to enjoy smoking, are glad they switched, and reported MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried!

MERIT is the proven alternative to high tar smoking. And you can taste it.

With all four feet off the ground, in a controlled fast hand gallop, purebred Arabian stallion, "Count Zephyr," and his rider, Carla Hay Cox, of Romulus, ride to victory in the Native Costume Championship Class at the Michigan State Fairgrounds.

The 1980 Reserve Canadian National Champion, "Count Zephyr", ridden by Carla Hay Cox, poses immediately following the award presentation at the Toronto Exposition Center in Toronto Canada. Carla's father, Frederick W. Hay, holds a huge blue ribbon and silver tray symbolic of the triumph. The Hay family resides at 14170 Huron River Drive, Romulus, where they operate the Zephyr Arabian Horse Farm.

Arabian horse is Canadian champ

Romulus girl rides County Zephyr to glory

The Romulus Community gained national attention recently when COUNT ZEPHYR, a grey purebred Arabian stallion, ridden by Carla Hay Cox, earned the title of Reserve National Champion of Canada.

The national event was held recently at the 1980 Canadian Arabian National in Toronto, at the Toronto Exposition Grounds.

The five-foot-two-inch petite champion, Carla Hay Cox, is the youngest of the four children of Frederick W. and Helen E. Hay of 14170 Huron River Drive, Romulus.

COUNT ZEPHYR is the farm stallion at Zephyr Arabians located at 14170 Huron River Drive, Romulus, Michigan.

Started ten years ago, the Zephyr Arabian Horse Farm is a family operation. Three Hay family members, son Fred, Jr., Margie Hay Herrmann, and Carla Hay Cox, show as amateurs and compete in Arabian Horse class A. shows all around the United States.

Carla said, "Ever since my first Class A show, the prestigious All-Arabian Show classic held in Scottsdale, Arizona when I was 14, and my favorite purebred Arabian gelding, 'C'est La Vie', and I won ribbons in several classes, I dreamed of some day being a National Champion! So being Reserve National Champion is a real thrill, and it gives me a good feeling of accomplishment because I have worked so very hard for many years to achieve it."

"However, it is only through the combined efforts and many, many hours of hard work by our entire family that this success has been possible," she said.

Besides eight-year-old Count Zephyr, the Hay family shows a very promising purebred Arabian gelding, Zephyr's Pharaoh, who is a favorite of a Hay family son-in-law, William B. Cox, who trains and shows him whenever possible.

Cox is an engineer with Volkswagen of America. Son, Fred, Jr. shows an Arab gelding, Zephyr's Nazir, and his favorite classes are halter, 4-wheel cart informal driving, and western pleasure.

Daughter, Margie, shows a 7/8 Arab, Zephyr's Mirage, who shows much promise as a five-year-old and is outstanding in English classes.

All four horses have earned the necessary points to qualify for the 1981 United States Nationals to be held in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Pearl Hay Varner, eldest daughter, was an outstanding horsewoman in her own right as a Wayne County 4-H club member. She and her husband, Virgil, a licensed Belleville electrician have two sons and several horses, but none are active in the horse circuit at this time. Pearl is president of the Romulus Historical Society.

At the week-long 1980 Canadian Arabian Nationals, where Carla won her Reserve Crown, every one of the approximately 1,000 Arabian horses competing is a champion in its own right. Before he is even invited to compete in either the Canadian Arabian Nationals or the United States Arabian Nationals, they must have accumulated enough points.

Both are governed by the rules of the International Arabian Horse Association of Burbank, California and one must earn the required first place blue ribbons and/or championships throughout the season in order to qualify for either nationals.

Immediately following the Canadian Nationals, Carla and Count Zephyr made a clean sweep at the Region 16 Championship Show held in Springfield, Mass.

Carla and Count Zephyr were named Region 16 Side Saddle Champions, after also taking the 1st Blue Ribbon in the Side Saddle Class. In Native Arabian Costume Class they took first Blue Ribbon honors, and also made Top Five in the Regional Championships, in addition to countless other ribbon awards.

For the Native Costume Class, Carla wears a two-piece gold brocade suit featuring a bare midriff, with long full sleeves and bloused pants ending at her barefoot gold slippers. Her black velvet tunic, which flows out behind as she hand gallops around the show ring, is an elaborate creation trimmed in gold braid and shiny sequins.

Her saddle is covered in black and gold flowered brocade, and features tassels in shining gold, black, and green.

It represents a team effort of family members, including sister-in-law, Kathleen Hay and a cousin, Connee Morris, of Romulus.

The bridle is a creation of a Romulus artist, Muriel Boelter of Bibbins Street, who is also a talented pianist. The entire completed ensemble would be valued at several thousand dollars, if the countless hours of hand sewing were included.

To date, ZEPHYR ARABIAN HORSE FARM has won five "Top Ten" National Championships to their credit . . . which is no small feat. The list includes: "C'EST LA VIE", a purebred Arabian gelding — who made TOP TEN at halter in the U.S. Arabian Nationals in Oklahoma City in 1971. He later perished in a fire.

Almarah Kontiki — purebred Arabian stallion — in Arabian Native Costume in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma in 1972;

Count Zephyr — purebred Arabian stallion — Native Costume — in Louisville, Kentucky in 1976;

Count Zephyr — purebred Arabian stallion — Arabian Native Costume — in Albuquerque, New Mexico in 1979; and Count Zephyr — purebred Arabian stallion — Arabian Native Costume — in Toronto, Canada in 1980.

Being named Reserve National Champion of Canada is a fitting climax for a very successful summer show season for the Frederick W. Hay Family.

Editorial opinions

Residents do care about their cities

Residents do care about the community in which they live! Witness last Tuesday night's public hearing on a proposed sludge recovery plant in Romulus before City Council and the subsequent site plan review hearing before the Planning Commission.

Word-of-mouth information and articles in the local newspaper prompted more than 300 city residents to jam-pack council chambers at Romulus City Hall to protest the proposed construction.

With the exception of one man who went on a tour to a smaller, sludge recovery plant in Maryland, not one person at the meeting expressed support for the plant. That person was neutral on the issue.

One company — DetRo Recovery — wants to build a plant in an area zoned light industrial in Romulus. Some 40 proposed sites are now occupied by a commercial operation. Some city officials have termed a disgrace to the city. They went on record as saying that the sludge recovery plant, if it proved feasible, would be a preferable operation being conducted there now.

It is concluded that many of the Romulus residents who attended Tuesday's hearings did not know much about the proposed recovery plant and its operation. They were simply concerned that their neighbors and friends were not in the idea.

For all their reasons, the important thing is that they turned out to express their feelings.

It is a fate that more don't turn out at election time. The same thing happened recently in Van Buren Township. Some 20 residents of a subdivision near Wayne Disposal, a landfill located in the township, turned up to protest the truck traffic related to its operation. They also complained about declining market value of their houses.

In Sumpter, a group of irate residents flocked to several public hearings to complain about City Sand & Gravel, a long-time sludge recovery operation in their township.

In Sumpter, too, residents were concerned enough that they turned out publicly to turn thumbs down on detrimental aspects of the landfill operation.

It must be admitted that in Van Buren and Sumpter, the complaints were generated just before the primary election, as is often the case with controversial issues.

In Sumpter, enough controversy was generated that the supervisor, clerk and four trustees on the board were beaten at the polls in their bid for re-nomination.

Whatever the reasons, whether residents in Sumpter and Van Buren are right or wrong, whether Romulus residents know enough at this stage to intelligently criticize a proposed sludge recovery plant, local citizens made a concerted effort to do something about what they didn't like.

The message: when something affects their lives, residents act.

Lansing suffering from 'Tax-um and Spend it' syndrome

The cat is finally out of the bag. Democrat and Republican politicians as well as their staff bureaucrats will support the "Millk-ums" (Governor Milliken's "Coalition Property Tax Cut Proposal"), which is in reality a tax shift and a tax increase.

It seems the good ole boys in Lansing all suffer from the "Tax-um and spend it" syndrome, and they want more, more from you and me in the form of a 38 percent increase in sales tax and they offer only a questionable reduction in property taxes in return.

At this very minute they are spending our tax dollars to promote their outrageous proposed constitutional amendment which contains 20 pages of fine print.

Hidden in this maze of material are provisions to remove the few remaining teeth in the Headlee Tax Limitation Amendment.

They have even gone so far as to hire professional advertising people and produce radio tapes as well as other kinds of anti-Tisch Pro-Tax limitation amendment. Increase material, all funded with taxpayer dollars.

Isn't this against the law?

In 1978 the taxpayers of our state sent a message to the governor and the state legislature — that message was clear, but moderate.

We asked only for a limit on taxes and a small property tax relief.

The "Millk-um" administration and the Democratically controlled legislature promptly cheated the taxpayers of our state by circumventing, watering down, and loopholing the citizens initiated tax limitation amendment.

Now these same uncontrollable, irresponsible elected officials have joined forces and put together the millk-um coalition tax shift increase package.

After what they have done to the citizens of our state, can we trust them to reduce taxes? — the answer is obviously "no!"

These are the same people who initially pulled the teeth from the Headlee amendment and now seek to destroy other portions of that amendment.

Taxpayers unite. Fight the politicians and bureaucrats.

We can do this in two ways, first vote "yes" only on the Tisch Tax Cut proposal which will appear on the ballot as proposal "D", and vote "no" on the other two.

This is the only way we can protect ourselves from higher taxes, runaway government spending, and a state government which appears to be out of control.

Secondly, since the incumbent politicians stuck it to us with higher taxes; property, gas, license plate fees, and increases in other areas, let's give them an early Christmas present on November 4 when we go to the polls — let's vote the bums out of office, this can be the beginning. In 1982 we can give the rest of the tax happy nuts a Christmas present including Governor "Millk-um" and others.

It will be their turn to be voted out of office.

Sludge : We must be fair say councilmen

The recent events regarding the proposed sludge composting plant make me wonder if this city (Romulus) is now closer to having this facility than before the confusing and ill planned "double" meetings of Aug. 27.

Regardless of how the citizens or elected officials feel about any proposed project for this city, we must, and should, provide equal treatment during the planning process, as set forth in our ordinances.

The main objection against DetRo was the "smell" and keeping that smell out of Romulus. However much the elected officials or citizens are against the smell, we should maintain fairness in handling our city business.

The city held a public hearing in advance of the planning commission presentation of the proposed site plan on the same night as that meeting. Such deviation of our established planning procedures might jeopardize the City's position should this case end up in court.

The city planners have now agreed that sludge is permissible in an M-2 district. If DetRo can prove as they claim that their property is zoned M-2 it might be hard to prohibit its site plan. The planners have stated in their letter dated Aug. 25: "Their development would meet area, height, and placement requirements of the zoning ordinances. It is our opinion that sludge composting would be a permitted use of land in the M-2 General Industrial District."

Have the highly paid professionals retained by the city failed to properly research the zoning maps and court cases which could possibly indicate a difference in zoning application which might accommodate DetRo?

I hope the professional staff this city employs has not failed to properly inform the elected officials and lay people who serve on the boards and commissions who must deal with the problems.

My purpose in writing this editorial is not to state a position regarding the sludge recovery plant.

Instead, I am giving my view of the undesirable position in which the city has placed itself after conducting the two hearings last week.

The Other Side of the Meridian

She chose life

By TOM MOORADIAN
Acting Managing Editor

"I just want you to know that it was not a morbid prank as you thought it was," echoed the voice over the telephone. "The girl wanted to commit suicide. And I wanted you and your readers to know that she didn't."

"We managed to convince her that life is still beautiful," the voice said.

The caller was referring to a column that appeared on these pages a couple of weeks ago. In that column I mentioned that I had received a letter from a distraught teen-ager who was pregnant and said she was going to commit suicide because "the person she loved and was the father of her child" had rejected her.

But when her suicide note also popped up on some metropolitan newspaper's desk as well as here, it appeared someone was seeking some cheap publicity.

"All that was in that letter was true," the voice over the telephone continued. "I'm a friend of the girl's, and I know it for a fact. She's now seeking professional help."

"Again I wanted you and your people to know that she's going to be alright. Thank you."

Let's hope so.

While Romulus is debating the issue of whether or not to build a compost plant, the city of Wayne is also embroiled in a controversial debate on whether the city needs a "Wave-Tech" swimming pool at a la Waterford.

The city fathers plan to do away with the run-down, much-in-need-of-repairs outdoor Attwood Pool and hopefully replace it with a first-of-its-kind inside Wave-Tech pool. (The unique feature of this pool is that there will be mechanism that can stir up waves.)

But, in order to get this proposed $4.5 million project off the drawing boards the city, thanks to the Headlee Amendment, must receive voter approval.

And voters are very reluctant to put their stamp of approval on anything that would eventually cost them money. The proposal will appear on the Wayne ballot on Sept. 16.

Although Waterford does have an outdoor "Wave Tech", according to our sources — not reliable, however because no research has really been done — if Wayne decides to go ahead with the project it would become the first in the United States to own such a facility.

Just a passing thought ... the Allies decided to go to Poland's defense in 1939 when Hitler's Germany launched its eastern attack. Wonder if we would have gone to war against the Soviet Union if the Red Army decided to push into Poland to settle the recent strikes there?

Police praise MD workers

EDITOR—The Van Buren Police Dept. would like to thank the following people for donating their time in helping sell 50-50 raffle tickets for muscular dystrophy at the Wayne County 4-H Fair — wives of officers, Ann Banoti, Sandy Bernard, Evelyn Hughes, and Peggy Lancaster for donating their time and selling the tickets; Beck's Party Store for donating the tickets; Ken Jiller of Coppers Towing for the use of his camper; and the Belleville Jaycees for the use of their large lighted sign.

A total of $760 was taken in on the raffle tickets, and on Aug. 17, 1980, the winning ticket was drawn. The winner, Pam Toporek of Romulus was issued a check for $380.

The balance of the money went to Jerry and his kids to help fight muscular dystrophy. On Saturday, Aug. 13, 1980, the Van Buren Police Dept. held a car wash, also for muscular dystrophy. The total taken in on the car wash was $174.68.

Our thanks go to the following people for helping: Mr. and Mrs. Randy Hughes, Mrs. Marilyn Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Marv Banoti, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bernard, Mr. Joe Mathews, Mrs. Ron Box, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Mercer, Mr. Paul Cartwright, and Mr. John Willet.

Thanks to all of you people for donating your time. Your cooperation was greatly appreciated.

Thanks for paving efforts

EDITOR—I am writing this letter in appreciation to Mrs. Lida Hartman, 6111 Globe St., Westland, and to Mrs. Carole Woods, 6110 Globe St., Westland, for their determination and hard work.

These two women have worked many years to get our streets paved in the Ford Road Electric Railway Subdivision. After overcoming many obstacles, both political and personal, at last we have our streets blacktopped.

Without their efforts, I feel we would never have got the job done. Again, my thanks go out to these women.

Tower needs repainting

EDITOR—We, the Belleville-Van Buren Jaycees are $200 short in obtaining our goal for the historical water tower project.

We have set aside Saturday, Sept. 20, 1980 to devote our time and energies to repaint this tower. If our goal is not reached by this date, we will have to postpone this project indefinitely. We need your help now. We urge you to send your tax deductible contribution to: Water Tower Project, Belleville-Van Buren Jaycees, P.O. Box 536, Belleville, Mich. 48111. R

Remember, every little bit helps. Please support your city in this community project.

Unfriendly reception

EDITOR—Residents of Globe and Wilmer streets in Westland have become upset over being taxed for two years by the city for paving that we do not have.

Therefore, we recently went to the mayor's office to question our tax bill.

The residents learned the honorable Mayor Thomas Taylor was out of town and therefore met with the assistant to the mayor, Andrew Spisak.

Upon entering the office we were immediately met with a large cloud of hospitality from which came shouting, abusive actions and foul language. We certainly would not diagnose this type of reception as the "May I serve you" attitude.

This is the first time we ever met with a public official who showed so much disrespect for the office he represents.

In this case of residents versus the city, we (the residents) are the customer. We have a right to ask questions and we feel the mayor or anyone who represents him should be able to handle the office of the mayor with a sense of dignity.

Most likely, Spisak has gone to the Dale Carnegie classes as Mayor Taylor requested of all his city departments, but perhaps Mr. Spisak could take a post graduate class to learn how to deal with people and be friendly.

Ask Carol Premo

After baby was born, he left me

By CARON PREMIO, Ph.D.

Dear Carol,
I am not writing to ask you a question but rather to share an experience of mine with you and your readers.

You frequently tell people to go to a therapist for help and I want to tell you what happened when I did. Maybe I can help someone too.

When I was 21 years old I was living alone in my own apartment, had a good job as a secretary in an insurance agency and pretty happy. Then I met a man 2-years older and fell "madly" in love.

We dated six months and got married. Not because we had to but because we wanted to. He told me I had to quit my job because no wife of his would ever have to work and like a fool I did.

Staying home all the time it seemed that my whole life started to revolve around him. At the time I didn't care because I thought he loved me and that was all that was important. Ha! Did I ever learn a lesson.

When I was four months pregnant he left me for another woman. No word or money or support. He didn't even call when the baby was born.

Needless to say I was shattered. The social worker when my baby was born referred me to an agency for people who are poor (I was then) and it was the best thing that ever happened.

Eventually I learned that I was very insecure and dependent and got my identity from anyone I was with. I found out why and also what I could do about it. I discovered my own qualities and potentials and that I could fall in love without losing myself.

The whole experience changed my outlook on life and it was for the better. Things aren't always great but I know that I can count on me and that is great. Thanks for listening.

X Client

Dear X

Thanks for writing. Sometimes it means more coming from the mouth of experience. If people listen they will find out things can and do change.

Dear Carol,

This will be brief. What do you know about ESP (extra sensory perception) and autokinesis and astral projection? Do these things exist? Are they good or evil? How do you know if a person really can see beyond or is just crazy or a con artist? Thank you.

Checking it out.

Dear Checking,

Unfortunately I can't tell you much. There are a lot of quacks around but there have also been some situations that are very hard to explain.

To my knowledge there is very little hard core scientific data on this subject. It is hard to test what only one person claims to hear or see.

There have been instances of some people seeming to "see" particular events and some police departments even hire them on special cases.

Maybe some of my readers would be interested in sharing some of their knowledge or insights into this perplexing problem.

I know that I, for one, would like to hear from you.

DEAR CAROL,

When I am reading I really like to get into the book and ignore everything and everybody.

My wife cannot tolerate this — she finds reasons to interrupt. Sometimes, I feel like she spends hours thinking up questions, requests, pointless bits of information, just to interfere with my occasional reading.

How do I cope with this. I love my wife, but I also love to read.

Reader

DEAR READER,

Sounds like your wife, and who could blame her, does not like to be ignored. I would suggest first of all discussing the way you feel about reading.

Carefully explaining how much you enjoy it, adding that it provides some time for you to relax and forget the troubles of the world.

This may help her understand your feelings. However, you also have an obligation to understand her feelings of being ignored.

One way of handling the situation would be to try and stimulate her interest in reading. Suggest different books, taking a trip to the bookstore or library, as discussing the books you both enjoy will make reading times and preparation a happening that you can both enjoy. This attempt to share your interest will help her become more involved and feel a part of what you consider a special time.

Reading can then become a specially set time you share together and a time you both look forward to.

Absentee ballots

By EDWARD E. MAHALAK
State Representative
38th District

The State Legislature has been taking action to make several changes in election law, which includes dealing with some problems related to absentee ballots.

State election law requires a person desiring to vote by absentee ballot to ask for an application form for the absentee ballot in person or by mail. Many persons ask for the applications by means of a telephone call and most local clerks comply with the request.

However, a recent opinion by the Michigan Attorney General stated that a clerk is not required by law to mail out an application upon verbal request.

In order to clear up this situation, a bill was introduced to amend election law to require a clerk to furnish an application form for an absentee ballot upon a verbal request, as well as a written request.

It should be noted that a person's signature is still required in order to receive the actual ballot.

The bill is near final approval in the Legislature.

It would clear up any questions as to whether a local clerk is required to provide the ballot application upon a verbal request. The bill is supported by the Department of State Elections Division.

Election law had allowed absentee ballots to be counted starting at noon on election day. A bill was recently signed into law to permit election officials to start counting absentee ballots at 8 a.m. on election day. This will considerably ease the pressure on the counters. The new law corrects several problems caused by the increasing use of absentee ballots.

A written absentee ballot takes considerable time to fully record. The increased use of absentee ballots has, therefore, resulted in long hours and increasingly heavy workloads for election officials and workers.

The new law also allows absentee ballots to be cast, registered and recorded using voting machines in cities and townships which have such machines.

Absentee ballots could be cast by machine at any time during the 3 days before the election, but not later than 4 p.m. on the day before the election. Where machines are not used a voter would be able to vote by absentee ballot in person at the clerk's office up to 4 p.m. on the day before the election, instead of 2 p.m. as under the old law.

The bill sets procedures for controlling, maintaining, protecting, operating and sealing a voting machine used for absentee voting. It further allows absentee ballots to be counted by an absent voters' counting board by any community which does not use voting machines.

Among other things, the new law will make it faster and easier to count absentee ballots in many smaller communities which do not use voting machines, and the earlier beginning time for counting absentee ballots will all help to streamline the tallying and reporting of absentee ballots.

The law does not require any community to begin counting votes at 8 a.m. on election day or any community to use voting machines or absentee ballot counting boards. It simply allows communities to make the choice. It is entirely permissive, not mandatory.

Another new change in the election law will require the governor to call a special election to fill a vacancy in the office of state representative or state senator that occurs between the primary and general elections. Under the old law, the governor could or could not call such a special election.

This would be an unusual situation, but it not only could occur, it has occurred.

This year, a state representative from Flint resigned from the Legislature effective September 1. This could leave the citizens of that district without representation for more than four months, or until the new House is seated in early to mid-January. The new law would reduce this period of non-representation for that district, or any other which found itself in a similar situation.

Since the Legislature does meet in the fall, such a district would be left without a voice in matters which would affect it.

Another new law increases the recount fees for elections which are in question from $5 to $10 per precinct. This would help to defray the costs to local units of government for the recounting of ballots, which are approximately $70 per precinct.

Reflections

What's a mother to do?

Last Sunday I sent my youngest son off to school and for the umpteenth time in the last fifteen years I've waved goodbye to a scholar, the smile on my face being threatened with a total wipe-out by the tears beating at my eyeballs.

The sun beat down on me as I stood on the porch watching with dismay as he took his freshly ironed shirts and slacks, wadded them into a tight little knot to fill the only empty space in his Pinto.

"Those clothes are going to be horribly wrinkled," I told him. "I told you not to iron them," he answered.

I looked at this fifth kid of mine and something like hysteria rose up inside of me, for somehow, as he backed out of the driveway, looking every which way at me, his freshly ironed clothes wadded in a ball, I remembered so vividly the time he went to camp the first time.

I also remembered that a mother never learns when it comes to sending a kid off to camp ... or to college.

When the reservations had come through that long ago time, I vowed as an experienced mother-sending-kid-to-camp, that I would not buy new clothes for him for camp ... but, of course, I did. I also bought him a sleeping bag, because the kid across the street was taking a sleeping bag, and I rationalized by telling myself I wouldn't die of mortification when the kid came home with still-folded sheets and pillowcases.

Every year I had received a letter of instructions concerning the would-be camper, advising me to send along two sheets, a couple of blankets, one dark one and two pillowcases. And every year the camper would come back with two folded sheets, two folded pillowcases, dusty but in their original folds, and two blankets, both dark.

The letter, also, always reminded me to send along at least six pairs of socks (more if the kid changed every day.) So naturally I always sent along at least two dozen because what mother wants a camp counselor to know that her kid never changes, unless he's hit?

We were also advised to send along boots or rubbers. When it was time for my fifth kid to go to camp, he had no boots, since it had been a particularly long winter. I went out and bought him rubbers.

Now I don't know about other people's kids, but my kid took one look at those rubbers, plopped himself down in the middle of the floor and said he wouldn't go if he had to take those things.

Being bigger than he, I put the rubbers in anyway.

Actually, I put them in 10 times ...

Those rubbers, however, weren't my only worry. I worried about him starving to death, since this kid refused to eat anything but peanut butter sandwiches, and I had an inkling that the camp served other things for dinner besides peanut butter sandwiches. I had been trying to prepare him for camp food, by saying each night at dinner, "you had better begin eating what's set before you, because when you get to camp ... And each night he would say he wouldn't eat anything he didn't like, at home or at camp.

For three days after he left I worried about my little kid.

I visualized him sitting there in his tent, hungry and homesick, longing for mama and her peanut butter sandwiches.

And then came his first letter.

"Dear Mom," it read.

"The first night we got here we had these here rolls. They had terrible stentch. The harder I bit them the more terrible stentch they had.

"You said I would have to eat everything they gave me. You're wrong. The food is delishus. A lot better than what you make.

"Nobody here has rubbers. Me neither.

"Your son" I found his rubbers in the grand piano.

Remembering, I brushed the tears away as I now prayed, "May all his food have 'terrible strength' and let all the other kids at college be in wrinkled shirts and jeans.

The 'sexual revolution'

BY MAURICES REIZEN, M.D.

Director, Michigan Department of Health

We hear a lot these days about the sexual revolution — about the "freedom to do one's own thing". I'm sure we all admire freedom, but we know, too, that freedom in the adult sense bears with it a sense of responsibility for ourselves and for others.

When our VD staff reports that infectious syphilis increased from 257 reported cases in 1978 to 418 reported cases in 1979 — and that 36,625 Michigan people were reported to have gonorrhea last year — what can you think?

Almost every youth knows that these diseases are transmitted sexually from one person to another, and that they can be treated and cured in the early stages.

When some people read these shocking statistics, they blame lack of parental control. In many cases that isn't a valid criticism, because many victims of venereal disease are young adults, who no longer live at home.

Besides, some causes occur among older adults.

There are so many age groups — regardless of education, income, and ethnic background — who are involved in this problem that there seems to be only one solution at the moment.

That is to let people know that they can get help from their local health departments or personal physicians, and that all VD medical visits are confidential. The law states that confidentiality extends to minor children, and that even their parents need not know of such a visit.

Remember, venereal disease can be cured, if it's detected and treated in the early stages.

Sometimes a revolution is victorious, but in the case of the sexual revolution too many people are being conquered by disease that could have been avoided.

Attorney General and the Chippewas

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley has asked the U. S. Supreme Court to set aside a lower federal court ruling and again permit the state to enforce its laws which ban the use of gill nets in the Great Lakes by anyone.

The Attorney General's request is the latest in the historic Bay Mills and Sault Ste. Marie Chippewa Indian case which was initiated in 1973 and will likely continue through the 1980s.

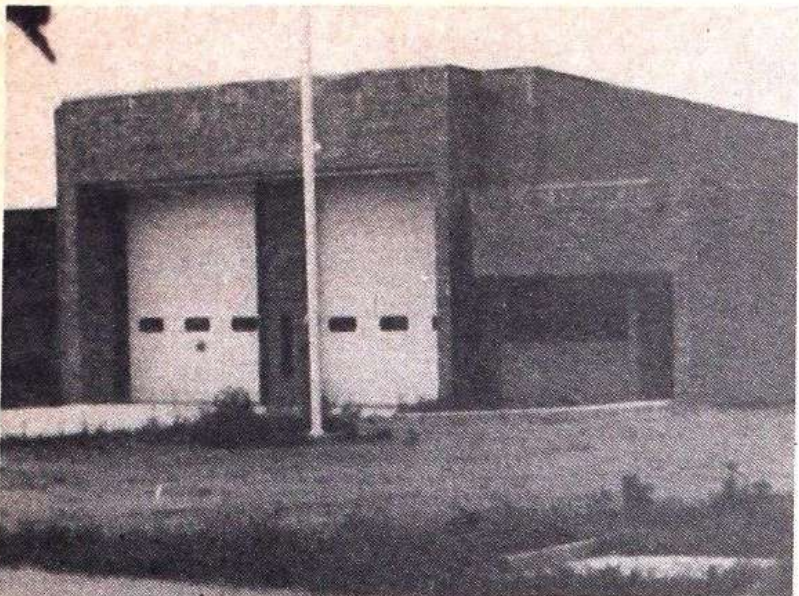

Based on information provided by the Department of Natural Resources, Kelley is concerned that irreparable harm will be done to Great Lakes fish stocks unless the Supreme Court modifies the July 16 ruling by the U. S. Court of Appeals in Cincinnati which permits the use of gill nets by the Indian tribes.

The specific action by the Appeals Court says that federal fishing regulations shall apply—rather than State of Michigan fishing regulations—while the case is being reviewed. Since federal regulations allow the use of gill nets by Indians, there is concern that the fish stocks will be seriously damaged—if not depleted—while the case is being argued.

"I'm confident that we will eventually win the case," said Kelley. "But unless the Supreme Court halts the use of gill nets, it will be an empty victory. There will be no resource left to protect."

Dedication on Sunday

Newest fire station named for Joe Crova

The city's fourth and newest fire station to be named after Romulus' long-time fire chief Joe Crova, is scheduled to be formally dedicated at ceremonies beginning at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 7, 1980.

The station, located on Northline Road, just east of Huron River Drive, replaces old fire station No. 1 next to the Recreation Department.

The project to build a new fire station in Romulus originated several years ago when a parcel of state land became available to the city along the I-275 corridor. The location was considered to be excellent for improved fire protection in the growing southwestern section of the city.

The sale of land at the old Eureka Road fire station and court house site combined with a $90,000 community development block grant financed the project.

Similar in appearance to station No. 4, the new station contains 2,700 square feet of garage, office, meeting and storage space and will house a front line pumper, rescue van and foam rig. The station will be manned by a 13 member volunteer crew.

The move to name the station after Joe Crova came to city council several months ago in a memo from Council President Mary Ann Banks.

In that communication, Banks praised Crova's selfless dedication to the needs of the community over a period of 31 years as Romulus Fire Chief. During most of that time, fire calls were dispatched from Crova's house and several fire vehicles were stored at his service station.

As Banks stated it, "He was on duty 24 hours a day, seven days a week."

The public is invited to attend the dedication. Refreshments and tours of the facility will follow the ceremony.

3A. Motion by Cantrell, supported by Raspberry, to adopt Resolution 80-325:

RESOLUTION 80-325

WHEREAS: The City of Romulus, by its Resolution 75-276 adopted March 18, 1975, established an Industrial Development District pursuant to Public Act 198, Acts of 1974, as amended; and

WHEREAS: General Motors Corporation, Detroit, Diesel Allison Division, on July 15, 1980, filed in quadruplicate, an application requesting approval of Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificates, within the Industrial Development District, described in the attached legal description (See application submitted) pursuant to Public Act 198, Michigan Acts of 1974, as amended; and

WHEREAS: Said application conform to all requirements set forth in Section 5, Subsection 1, of Act 198 of 1974, as amended, and meets all requirements prescribed by the State Tax Commission; and

WHEREAS: The City Council for the City of Romulus has completed a thorough investigation designed to determine the feasibility, acceptability, and legality of its methods of proceeding and proposed action based on the provisions of Public Act 198 of 1974, as amended, and have found all matters to be proper and in accordance with the requirements set forth in Act 198 of 1974, as amended; and

WHEREAS: The legislative body of each governmental unity which levied ad valorem taxes on said property has been afforded an opportunity to be heard on this matter at a Public Hearing held August 12, 1980; and WHEREAS: The Wayne County Board of Commissioners, the Wayne County Intermediate School District, the Romulus Board of Education, Wayne County Community College, and the City Assessor, after their investigation testified in favor of the City Council of the City of Romulus approving the applications; and

WHEREAS: The City Council of the City of Romulus, by its independent investigation, has determined that the approval of the applications will be beneficial to the City of Romulus and that Industrial Exemption Certificates for an amount exceeding the five (5 percent) percent limitation found in Section 9 Subsection 1, Subsection f, of Act 198 of 1974, as amended, would not have the effect of substantially impeding the operation of local government or impairing the financial soundness of any unit levying an ad valorem tax within the City of Romulus to be effected by said approval.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: By the City Council of the City of Romulus pursuant to the authority vested therein by Public Act 198 of 1974, as amended, does herewith grant approval for Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificates to General Motors Corporation, Detroit Allison Division, as requested in its application with the City of Romulus on July 15, 1980.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That the limitation regarding the aggregate state equalized value found in Section 9, Subsection 1, of Act 198 of 1974, as amended, is hereby waived; and the City Clerk is hereby directed to forward a copy of the application of General Motors Corporation, Detroit Diesel Allison Division, for the Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificates, together with a true copy of this resolution approving same, to the State Tax Commission of the State of Michigan for its consideration.

New pension law

'Dear John', you may be losing out on VA benefits

A special Veterans Administration effort to remind more than half a million pension recipients that an 18 month-old change in the pension law might be beneficial to them has begun paying off — for the veterans and their survivors.

VA officials say that since July 1 after an explanation of the "improved pension plan" was sent to them, approximately 150,000 pensioners told the agency they wanted to enroll in the new program.

The shift was made possible under a law that went into effect Jan. 1, 1979. It provides higher monthly pension rates, but counts all income received by veterans and their dependents in calculating pension eligibility.

The rates are automatically increased when social security benefits are raised due to cost-of-living changes. There have been two increases since January 1979, the latest being a 14.3 percent boost on June 1, 1980.

At the time of the pension law change VA launched an extensive publicity program to alert pension recipients to the features of the new program and has issued periodic reminders since then.

The latest alert took the form of a detailed explanation of the current pension program which was mailed to all pension recipients with their July check.

To date, officials said, approximately 60 percent of the 150,000 applications received in the month following the mailing have been processed.

About two-thirds of the applications processed have been converted to the new program with monthly pension increases averaging just over $80.

Romulus' Wilson joins U.S. Air Force

Kevin L. Wilson, 18, son of Harvey and Carrie Wilson, 35140 Beverly Rd., Romulus, has entered the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

According to Staff Sergeant Bernie Schmidt, the Air Force recruiter here, Wilson's entry into the DEP serves two purposes. First, it allows the Air Force to schedule an opening for him to attend basic training and be assigned to a job or skill area.

Second, the DEP enables Wilson, a 1980 graduate of Romulus Senior High School, to wrap up his personal affairs before leaving home.

Wilson will enter the Regular Air Force on November 3.

Following graduation from the six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., he will receive technical training in the mechanical aptitude area and be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE AND CONTROL THE USE AND OPERATION OF PUBLIC PARKS WITHIN THE CITY OF ROMULUS.

1003.100 Hours. All parks within the City of Romulus shall be closed between the hours of 10:00 p.m. and 5:00 a.m., except the Recreation Director shall be entitled to provide special exceptions thereto for City sponsored functions and notice of such special exceptions shall be provided to the Police Department by the Recreation Department at least Twenty-four (24) hours prior to said special event.

1003.101 The City Council may grant a waiver of the above hours upon request for specifically sponsored group activities by City or community groups showing good cause before the City Council.

1003.201 Preservation of the Parks. No person shall injure, deface, damage or destroy any part of the parks, or any building, sign, equipment or other property found therein, or any tree, shrub, or flower in said parks.
(a) It shall be unlawful to remove any turf, tree, flower, shrub, rock or other mineral from any public park.
(b) In addition to the penalties provided in this Ordinance for violating its provision, any person convicted of an act of vandalism within any public park or recreational area shall be liable to the City or public agency for an amount equal to three (3) times the total amount of the damage as shall be determined by a court of competent jurisdiction.
(c) In every case of conviction for the offenses herein prohibited, the Court before which such conviction shall be obtained shall enter a judgment in favor of the City or other public agency and against the defendant or defendants for liquidated damages in a sum as provided in Section 1003.201 (b). The City or other public agency shall, with the assistance of the City Attorney, collect the judgment in the manner or manners provided by law. If two (2) or more defendants shall be convicted of the vandalism, the judgment for damages shall be entered against them jointly and severally. If the defendant is a minor, the judgment shall be entered against both the defendant and his parents, or legal guardian.

1003.202 Garbage, Sewage, Refuse, Etc. No person shall deposit or dump earth, garbage, sewage, refuse or other noxious material in the parks except in the receptacles provided for such purposes.

1003.203 Camping. No person shall be allowed to camp in any park without a license.

Champs avenge losses to Jamies

First Edition of Westland wins 'tourney of champions'

First Edition Lounge of Westland displaying the hitting and fielding that at times were lacking during the regular season, coasted through a strong field to capture the prestigious Massey Slo-Pitch Softball "Tournament of Champions" staged last week in Plymouth, Plymouth.

The tournament brought together the top two teams from each of seven neighboring cities.

1st Edition went undefeated in four games, defeating arch-rival Jamie's, the Westland champion, 18-4 in the finals.

1st Edition got off to a slow start against Johnson Carbonic of Wayne in their opening game and were trailing 5-0 at the end of the first inning. They battled back and still trailed 8-7 with two outs in the seventh inning. Base hits by Ron Honeycutt, Jim Kholman and Tim Kelley brought home the tying and winning runs. Final score, 9-8.

champion Don Massey Cadillac of Plymouth. Last year, 1st Edition, then sponsored by Studio Lounge, lost two heartbreaking one-run decisions to Massey to finish runner-up in this tourney. This year, it was different.

tourney. This year, it was different. After another slow start, 1st Edition was trailing 8-4 in the third inning, when they exploded for 12 runs to take the lead 16-8. They followed with nine more runs in the sixth inning and won going away, 28-10.

Leading the way in the 31-hit attack were shortstop Charlie Petrillo with a perfect 5-for-5 night.

Ron Honeycutt, and Dave Conlin each had 4 hits and one home run. Bob Hope had three home runs, Jim Kholman had three hits and two home runs and Pat Kelley and winning pitcher Dennis Kesik also had 3 hits apiece.

Defensively, ancient outfielder T.C. Wilmot, kept 1st Edition in the game when they were trailing, with several fine catches.

The win over Massey, set-up the showdown with arch rival Jamies in the winner's bracket finals.

Jamies had 1st Edition's number during the league season, beating them five times in 6 games, although four of the losses were by one run.

In doing so, Jamies ended 1st Editions two year reign as league champs.

The 1st Edition team was not to be denied this time as they used timely hitting and a super defensive effort, featuring 5 double plays to defeat Jamies 11-6 to advance to the championship game.

Leading the way were Charlie Petrillo and Bob Hope with perfect 4 for 4 games. Hope had a home run, as did Jim Kholman and Ron Honeycutt. Second Baseman Barry (the Fish) Anderson had 2 hits and teamed with Petrillo on many excellent defensive plays. Dennis Kesik was again the winning pitcher.

Leading the way for the losing Jamies team was Jack Westerlund with 3 for 4 including a home run.

Back in the losers bracket, Johnson Carbonic of Wayne, was fighting their way back after losing their opening game to 1st Edition and were playing Massey to see who would meet Jamies in a game to determine who would advance to the championship game.

After a hard fought contest, Johnson Carbonic lost a 6-5 decision, sending Massey against Jamies.

In another exciting game, Jamies trailed all the way until the bottom of the 7th inning, when Chris Merfey's bases-loaded hit won the game for Jamies 14-13. This set-up the 8th meeting of the year between Jamies and 1st Edition.

Hitting early and often, 1st Edition completed their revenge by clobbering Jamies 18-4. Winning pitcher, behind an excellent defense, held big hitting Jamies to just 1 run and 3 hits over the first 6 innings.

Leading the well-balanced 23 hit attack were, Ron Honeycutt, Bob Hope, Jim Kholman and Kesik with 3 hits apiece. Charlie Petrillo, Dave Conlin, and John Irwin all had 2 hits. Honeycutt, Hope and Tim Kelley had home runs. Jamies was led by Jerry Detter with 2 home runs, and Chuck Copeland with one.

The most valuable player award went to shortstop Charlie Petrillo of 1st Edition. He had 11 straight hits before being stopped in the final game. Petrillo ended up 11 for 13 for an .846 average. Also having outstanding tournaments for the champions were catcher Bob Hope who went 12 for 16 with 5 home runs, and pitcher Dennis Kesik who had 10 hits in 14 at bats.

In winning, 1st Edition upped their overall record this season to 44-16 and in playing this weekend in the United States Slopitch Softball Association (U.S.S.S.A.) State Tournament at Southgate.

A parade of champs

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

The great intellectual dramas of the 1980 high school football season are about to commence.

Stage center—that's where these dripping with perspiration and sweat gridders will be Friday and Saturday. Three weeks of grueling practice will have ended, and now for the big test. A test of intelligence—yes, of intelligence—mind and body working together with teammates to produce a common effect—victory.

And if there is any doubt that "intelligent teams" win championships, let me remind those who recall the 1974 campaign, a campaign climaxed by Livonia Franklin winning the Class A state championship.

"We had a team made up of players who had between a 3.3 to 4.0 scholastic average," said Armand Vigna, head coach. "People look for physique in players—but all the physique in the world won't help unless there is something on top to move it in the right direction."

So coach, if you want to know if you're going to have a winner, look at your player's report card. That is a criterion, a clue to success anywhere.

My informants tell me that Fordson, with its speedster Mike McGowan returning, is the team in this area to beat. And, unfortunately for Coach Ken Kaestner and Livonia Churchill, they'll get the first shot at the Tractors who also have the honor of being the defending Great Lakes 8 Conference champs.

Football season is beautiful—it gives us low class claustrophobia sufferers a chance to get out into the wide open range.

Another person who has the knack to make dreams come true is Inkster's Fred Smiley. A few months ago he said he needed $20,000 to suit up three Little League football teams for the fall season.

Smiley, an All-American cager out of Northwood Institute who prepped at Inkster High, managed over the past few months to bring in an array of personalities and TV stars to help raise the necessary money.

On Saturday those celebrities will be back in town to watch Inkster's Raiders kick off the 1980 season. The Inkster Youth Athletic Association will present its first ever Little League program at noon Saturday at Inkster High.

Preceding the game, the ITA has put together a parade that will start at 9 a.m. in the Inkster Recreation Department parking lot.

"Everyone who has helped to raise money for our program will be in our parade," Smiley said. "Some of the celebrities who will participate include Dave Bing, Lem Barney, Jim Thrower and from the Benefit Cabaret will be the Suede, G.G.W., the Champagne Band and Bill Merriweather."

There will be others: Fred Goree from WCHB, Debra Davey, and Clarence Pace along with Kathy Young, while Channel 20 TV will send program director Betty Andrews. TV 7 said it will be sending a camera crew out to film the activities.

Also on hand will be the one and only—Tommy Hearn, the Motor City Cobra who recently won the world's welterweight boxing championship.

How Smiley is able to lure these people into his programs is beyond me.

I can't even get near Hearn for an interview.

But, again, I was never an All-American.

Van Buren softball champs crowned

Van Buren Township's men's and women's softball teams finished their 1980 softball season in some exciting play-off games.

The women's play-offs saw tight competition between the four top competitors. In the first round, 4th place Athens Coney Island beat 1st place Lemontree, while Krug's went on to beat Ma Belles.

In the second round, Krug's edged out Athens Coney Island 8-7 with the game winning single coming from Cheryl Cullin with the bases loaded.

In the finals, Ma Belles jumped on Athens 5-1 to get a final shot at Krug's for the championship.

With one loss, Ma Belles could not make any mistakes against Krug's and the score of 10-1 showed Ma Belles' power with Mary Sylvester, Geri Postuma and Theresa Yob all collecting 2 hits apiece.

In the final play-off game with Krug's and Ma Belles both having one loss, coaches Jim Vercelli for Krug's and Ma Belles both having one loss, coaches Jim Vercelli for Krug's and Jack Earnhart for Ma Belles, had hopes of taking home the championship trophies, but knew that only one team would have that honor.

Unbeaten champs

The Vondaliers, sponsored by Sam Warren, coasted through the 1980 Inkster Parks and Recreation Department's Class B women's softball season with an untarnished 14-0 record to capture the championship. Members of the team include Melva Springer (kneeling, from left), Bobbie Baker, Katie Bell, Phillis Martin, Kay

Glenn ponders the unknown

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

A big question mark seems to hover over Westland John Glenn's football fortunes this season.

How do you best describe the Rockets, who are coming off a 4-5 season, their first losing ledger in six years? Are they spoilers, also-rans, a dark-horse or a genuine contender?

Questions abound as head coach Chuck Gordon gears up his forces for another grid season in the Northwest Suburban League, called by some the finest prep football conference around. With teams like North Farmington, Redford Union, John Glenn, Livonia Franklin and Garden City East, it doesn't seem you'd get much of an argument.

And you don't—until you talk to members of the Suburban Eight, Great Lakes Eight, Western Six and Inter-Lakes Conference.

John Glenn has compiled a record second to none against members of all these leagues in the past few years—but no one can bask in past glory and no one knows that better than Gordon.

"I honestly think we can make a run at it," he said in analyzing the Rockets' chances in the tough Northwest Suburban League. "Of course, North Farmington and Redford Union must rule as co-favorites. But if we play championship defense, I feel our offense will do a lot better than some people think" said the dark-haired, good-looking Gordon, who enters his fourth year as head coach.

Glenn is blessed to have senior Rick Discher at the controls this season after starting five games last year at quarterback. The 6-1, 185-pound field general came on strong during the season and displayed great poise in driving Glenn the full length of the field to score on the last play of the game to beat Wayne Memorial, 9-7, in last year's finale.

"Rick shows great poise, is dedicated and is a real leader on and off the field. He's a good passer and will improve both his running and passing as the season progresses," Gordon said. "He has all the confidence in the world."

Doing the bulk of the ball carrying will probably be speedy tailback Greg O'Neil, a shifty 5-10, 160-pound scooter, who looked extremely good at times last year. He'll be assisted at fullback by Tony Bono, a 5-10, 170-pound blocker and hard runner. Slotback will be handled by Wade Tipton, a 5-10, 155-pound senior, who has looked very good so far in preseason practice.

Up front in the trenches, Glenn's line will be anchored by center Paul Curnutte, a 6-foot, 205-pound senior, who saw some action as an offensive guard last year. Flanking him at guard will be Keith Zimmerman, a 6-foot, 200-

4 senior linemen form core of Churchill's powerhouse

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

The word is out that Livonia Churchill has another powerhouse football team this year.

With a group of experienced senior linemen going both ways, Coach Ken Kaestner has the nucleus of another strong grid squad that should again challenge for league and state honors. The Chargers finished with a 7-2 record last year and went undefeated in league play to win the Western Six title for the second consecutive year.

In 1978, Kaestner had one of his finest teams ever. That squad went undefeated with a 9-0 slate and led North Farmington, 3-0, in the state quarterfinals before eventually losing, 12-3. Kaestner, who is rounding out his second decade as head football coach of the Chargers, is playing it low key.

"We're experienced and have some good players," he admits. "But we have no depth and our team speed drops off very quickly. And team speed is one thing I put a premium on."

"We cannot afford any injuries to our starters or we could be in a lot of trouble." He downplays the fact that other coaches have named Churchill, along with Walled Lake Western and Farmington Harrison, as pre-season favorites to take the Western Six crown. He also names Northville as a team to watch in the conference.

But Kaestner's voice takes on new intensity when he mentions his returning linemen who will go both ways in the trenches.

Key players in Churchill's plans this year are seniors Frank Kenney, Norm Recla, Doug Schueneman and Dave Luch who will see double duty on the offensive and defensive lines.

One of the most spectacular players is Norm Recla, a 6-3, 193 pounder, who will play noseman and offensive guard. "Norm is exceptionally quick off the ball and has a great future," said Kaestner. "He just has an uncanny sense of where the ball is going and gets there in a hurry."

Alongside Recla will be Kenney, (6-1, 180) at offensive center and right defensive end; Schueneman (6-2, 185) will man the right offensive guard and left defensive tackle posts. Luch, a 6-foot, 185-pounder, will play tight end and defensive left end.

"These players are the strong point of the team," Kaestner says. "They're all returning starters and will see double duty going both ways."

Joining them on the offensive line will be Bob Hutte, a 6-foot, 170-pound right guard and Scott Hannah, a 6-foot, 175-pound left tackle. The other defensive starter on the line in Churchill's swarming 5-2 defensive alignment is Bob O'Neil, a very quick 5-10, 170-pound senior tackle.

Churchill's linebacking corps will feature senior John Dupuis, a 5-8, 175-pound tackler, and Shant Chobanian, a 6-foot, 175-pound junior, who has looked very good in pre-season play. Senior Matt Manzo, at 5-10, 170, will be the strong side cornerback and John Bielis (6-foot, 180), who is the Chargers starting quarterback, will be the strong safety.

Free safety will be Steve Tracey, a 5-8, 150-pound junior, who will double as starting flanker. "Steve has excellent speed and great hands," Kaestner beams. "He's a real quality player." The other cornerback position will be manned by Chris Liddell (6-0, 185) or John Bebb (5-9, 160), both juniors.

Bielis, who ran from the tailback position on last year's

2-title season

Posting a 12-4 over-all record on the year, Coach Rick Shipman and manager Tom Vernalt's ball club claimed both the Romulus North Senior Little League and the tournament titles. Members of the 1980 championship team include Matt Schick (kneeling, from left), Sean

Unistrut wins it all

Entering the playoffs with a 14-3 record which gave it the Wayne Class B title, Unistrut of Detroit breezed through post-tournament competition undefeated to grab the city championship. Members of the championship team are Ton Bernard (kneeling, from left) Jeff Hogan and Dave

Glenn ponders the unknown

pounder, who will also man a defensive tackle position, and Desi Baumann, a 5-11, 165-pound junior.

Offensive tackles will be senior Dale Boone, a 6-4, 210-pound giant who will also play defensive tackle, and Craig Hnatuk (pronounced Na-took), a junior who carried 185 pounds on his 5-11 frame.

Tight end will be Doug Cort, a strong 6-foot, 170-pound senior, who played the position last year. Dividing playing time at split end will be two experienced pass catching seniors, 5-11, 160-pound Jeff Wacker and 5-9, 155-pound Jeff Luke. Both Wacker and Luke made sensational catches in the final, game-winning drive against Wayne Memorial last season.

Glenn, which set a state record by allowing only 22 points during the entire 1978 season, should be strong again on defense. Dan Perkins, a 5-9, 195-pound senior is a returning starter who will clog things up defensively as noseman. Zimmerman and Boone, a pair of burly defenders who weigh 200 and 210, respectively, should be hard to move out of their defensive tackle posts by blocking linemen.

Gordon said three players are battling for starting jobs at defensive end. Doug Cort, a 6-foot, 170, has looked very good and may play both ways at an end position. Jeff Perryman, a 5-10, 165-pound senior who played occasionally at defensive end last year is looking for a fulltime job at the position. The third scrapper is Jeff Wacker, a determined senior who will use his 5-11, 160-pounds at defensive end as well as at split end.

In Gordon's 5-2 defense, two experienced veterans will plug the holes at linebacker. Returning starter Frank Innaello (5-10, 165) played several outstanding games last year and should have another fine season. Tri-captain Joe Bielecki, also a returning starter from last year's team, will use his 5-9, 165-pound frame to discourage enemy ball-carriers from coming his way.

In the secondary, Jeff Henson (5-9, 165) will start at roverback and Rick Wilson, who is also back-up quarter-back, has gained the nod at wide side halfback. Wilson, at 6-1, 180, is a junior who has shown much poise at quarterback and was particularly outstanding on a good Glenn JV team last year.

Tri-captain Rick Discher is also slated to see action at free safety and the other Tri-Captain, Greg O'Neil, will man the other defensive halfback post.

"The kids have looked real good and we're expecting some very good things to happen this year. We open up against an always tough Edsel Ford team and we'll know more after that game," Gordon said.

"But the fans can look forward to another exciting, competitive season of real good football from the John Glenn team," he said.

Coming from a coach who has helped mold outstanding teams at Glenn the past six years, opposing teams would do well to take note.

varsity squad, has been switched to the quarterback spot. "John is an outstanding athlete and a fine leader," Kaestner said. Supporting Bielis will be Jim Stoitsiadis, a 5-11, 175-pound senior, who was backup signal-caller last year.

Bill Gavin will ge the call at tailback. The shifty, 5-10, 170-pound junior, had an outstanding ground-gaining season on the JUV squad last year and Kaestner looks for good things from him again this year. "He's an excellent runner who seems to find the holes with great ease," Kaestner said.

In the backfield with Gavin will be fullback Matt Dixon, a 6-1, 190-pound senior, who is a hard runner and excellent blocker. Coach Kaestner said. Split end will be Mike Stetz a fleet 5-11, 170-pounder with good moves.

"Our seniors will definitely be the strength of our team," Kaestner said. "We'll find out in a hurry what we're made of when we host always tough Dearborn Fordson in our first game." Churchill will then visit Ann Arbor Huron in another non-league test before embarking on a slate of five consecutive Western Six clashes.

Three different players will handle the Chargers' kicking game. Jim Stoitsiadis is the punter, Doug Schueneman will kick-off and Steve Tracey will boot the extra points.

Romulus seeks touch grid teams for loop

The Romulus Recreation Dept. is forming a passing only football league. The season will start Sat., Oct. 4.

Passing only football is a non-contact sport played by seven-man teams and as the name suggests, the ball is advanced by passing with the running game coming only after the pass is caught.

Entry fee will be $100 for teams made up of Romulus residents.

There will be an extra charge for each non resident.

The 1980-81 volleyball season also will begin on Wednesday, October 15. This year's leagues will include Men's, Women's and Co-Ed. Participatns must be at least 18 years old. Sponsor fee is $125. An extra fee will be charged for non resident participatns. It's not too late to enter a team.

Contest set for Sept. 21

Calling all duck hunters

The 33rd Annual Michigan Duck Calling Championship Contest, will be held on Sunday, Sept. 21, at 2 p.m.

It will be staged at the Pointe Mouillee State Game Area, Headquarters site, which fronts on the Huron River in Wayne County, East of I-75 Expressway, state of Michigan.

The duck calling contest is part of the Michigan Duck Hunters Tournament, to vie for points, for the Tournaments, Grand Championship, of the State of Michigan, with Hy Dahlka, as permanent chairman. Point Mouillee Waterfowlers, Co-sponsors.

The rules of the contest have been changed, to concur, with the rules of the World's Championship Contest, held in Stuttgart, Arkansas, for the winners of the Michigan Duck Calling Contest, to qualify, as a contestant in the World Championship Contest.

The winner's name will be sent on a pre-registration form, to the contest headquarters in Arkansas, to be eligible to compete in the Worlds Championship Contest. The entries must be 14 years of age and up.

The Junior Duck Calling Contest, are for those under 14 years of age to qualify. They can also be an entry, in the Junior World Championship Contest, if they win at the Michigan Duck Hunters Tournament. The contest judges will have an application processed, and sent to Stuttgart for eligibility.

If the first place winner of the contest, participates in another contest elsewhere, shall be participating in the second contest, relinquish his right to participate in the World's Championship Contest, as winner of the first contest. The runner-up from the first contest, shall qualify and be eligible to enter the Stuttgart contest, and will be processed on the application form.

Other rules are, that registrations shall be closed, 1/2 hour prior to stated time of the contest. The duck caller contestant will be limited to one and one half minutes. An overtime caller shall be disqualified from further competition in the contest. Those tied for last place, beyond the number selected for a call back, will be included in the call back. No one may enter the contest, with three or more contest championships.

The rules on calls to be made in the contest are, the hail or highball call, used to attract ducks to your blind direction. The lonesome hen or mating call, which is a quack, and is usually spaced, a few seconds apart. Feed call or chuckle-chatter call. The important, come back call, a call you use when ducks were coming to your decoys and suddenly change and flare away for some unknown reason, the call is a pleading call, for the ducks to come back.

The rules on judges of the contest are, that there be a minimum of five judges, for each contest. A person who manufactures duck callers for the purpose of sale, or any of his immediate family, employees or agents, will not be allowed to serve as a judge. The judges for 1980 will be, George Kadar, chairman, Louis Zelenak, Pete Rebek, Dick Whitwam and Ron Forski.

The scoring, the preliminary and the call backs, those selected by the highest scores, for the prescribed number of contestants, shall compete in the finals, the two sets of the judges scores, preliminary and call back will be added up, to pick the highest amount of total points as winner of the duck calling contest. The winner will be eligible for the World Championship Duck Calling Contest, at Stuttgart, Wknsas.

The Jet setters

Only one loss tarnished the "Jet's Set" record in the Romulus Sunday Morning Softball League, a league they won with a 11-1 record. Flashing the symbolic "No. 1" sign are members of the championship team which is made up of Mark Marvin (kneeling from left), John

Season's over

After first inning excitement, the game was tied 2-2, but in the top of the 2nd inning, Krug's broke it open scoring 4 more runs with clutch hits coming from Linda Budimerovich, DeeDee Coppock, and Terry Rose.

The game saw no more runs scored until the top of the 6th inning, when Krug's scored once more to make the score 7-2. Ma Belles were unable to get anything else started and went on to lose with the final score ending up at 7-2.

Tonya Ralls, Krug's winning pitcher, gave up only 5 hits against Ma Belles.

The men's play-off finals saw Rogalles Lounge, Lemontree, Rheeme Manufacturing and Captain Nemo's vying for top spot. The finals saw Captain Nemo's taking first place, Rheeme Manufacturing 2nd place, Rogalles lounge 3rd, and Lemontree with 4th.

MR. AND MRS. WALTER A. WOLLARD

Tecumseh church is setting for Wollard-Jahner wedding

The Tecumseh United Methodist Church was reserved August 23 for the double ring ceremony which joined Michele Eileen Jahner and Walter Allen Wollard in holy matrimony.

The Rev. Bernard Hearl presided at the six thirty rite before some 250 assembled relatives and guests including the young couple's parents, Garold and Gloria Jahner of 5200 E. Monroe, Tecumseh, formerly of Belleville, and Allen Wollard and Myrna Wollard, both of Ypsilanti.

Organist and soloist were Mrs. Wilnella Bush and Candy Harrington, respectively.

Given in marriage by her mother and dad, the bride was gownned in white organza, the little fitted bodice being designed with lantern sleeves and a ruffled V-neckline accented in rosepointe lace. The skirt, which fell in three tiers from a natural waistline, was frosted with lace appliques and terminated in a chapel train.

Completing her bridal finery were a wide-brimmed hat of organza and lace and a cascade bouquet of white roses, mini carnations, stephanotis and silk pastel baby's breath in the shades of the bridal attendants' gowns.

Margaret Robideau of Tecumseh, who was asked to be maid of honor, donned a toe-touching frock of peach polyester sheer with a double ruffled V-neckline, deeply flounced hemline and bustled back.

The quintet of bridesmaids in identical rainbow colored gowns included the bride's two sisters, Janice and Kimberly Jahner of Tecumseh; Alice Kielwasser, Lori Marocco and Gwen Vavrinek.

Tom Merritt of Ypsilanti carried out the duties of best man with James Feuerstein, Dwane Hamilton, Darrell Mains, Alan Martin and Stanley Webster making up the corps of ushers.

The bride's niece and nephews were also part of the ceremony with 9-year-old Andrew Hyde as acolyte; 7-year-old Timothy Hyde performing as ringbearer and 3½-year-old Jennifer Hyde filling the role of flowergirl. They are the children of the Kenneth Hydes of Tecumseh.

The Tecumseh Country Club was the setting for the dinner-dance reception which followed. Among those attending were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Haft and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jahner, all of Belleville, the women being honored with corsages of baby carnations.

Mrs. Jahner chose for her daughter's wedding a chiffon gown in watermelon pink with Mrs. Wollard selecting green chiffon for her ensemble.

The newlyweds, who are currently on a 2-week honeymoon in Florida, will make their home at 840 Hawthorne, Ypsilanti, on their return.

The new Mrs. Wollard, a graduate of Tecumseh High School, is completing her senior year at Eastern Michigan University where she is majoring in business. She also is employed by Celebrity Jewels.

Her husband, an Ypsilanti High School alumnus, owns and operates Auto Cosmetics in Ypsilanti.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the bridegroom's parents, was held at Rock Inn of Adrian.

Carousel Nursery accepting applications for 1980-81 term

Carousel Cooperative Nursery School is now accepting applications for the 1980-81 school year. Three and four-year-old children are given a chance to play with other preschoolers and gain readiness for kindergarten.

There are two classes offered from September thru May for two mornings a week for 2½ hour time spans. There will be a Monday-Wednesday class and a Tuesday-Thursday class offered this year.

Mothers or fathers are asked to participate at assisting the nursery for approximately two mornings every month or every five weeks and to attend about six meetings the entire school year. They are also asked to sign up for a small extra job which helps the nursery function as a cooperative.

The teacher has a bachelor's degree, valid teaching certificate and is completing a master's degree program in early childhood education. The tuition is $15 a month from September to May and a $10 registration fee per year, per family.

Carousel is located in the Belleville United Presbyterian Church, 11900 Belleville Road, but is nondenominational and open to the public. For information or registration forms please call Linda Bitner, 697-9319.

Ron Smith, Kathy Henry repeat vows

A week-long honeymoon in Nashville, Tenn. followed the June 7 marriage of Kathy Henry of Romulus and Ronald Smith of Allen Park. Since their return, the young couple have made their new home at 11550 Katherine in Taylor.

Calvary Baptist Church in Romulus was the setting for the four o'clock rite at which double ring vows were exchanged. The Rev. Lonnie England presided at the ceremony which joined the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry of 36810 McBride, Romulus, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith of 18930 Seavitt, Allen Park, in holy matrimony.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride appeared in an organza gown of contemporary design — the empire bodice made with a pointe de sprit yoke enhanced with Venice lace and pearls and a pleated capelet. A circular chapel train frosted with Venice lace added back interest to the dress.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion drifted from a Camelot cap of matching lace and pearls with a bouquet of plum, pink and white roses and rosebuds, white apple blossoms and baby's breath completing her ensemble.

Maid of honor and best man at the wedding were Patricia Miller of Williamston and Mike Forest of Berkley.

Holding a bouquet of plum and pink roses and rosebuds with sprigs of baby's breath for accent, Miss Miller wore a pink polyester frock with a capelet effect at the shoulders.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Karen Cohoon of Belleville, and Gale Randall of Romulus served as bridesmaids in identical gowns of rosebud polyester.

Ushers were Jerry Henry of Romulus and Chris Cohoon of Belleville, brother and brother-in-law, respectively, of the bride.

At the reception which followed at the Romulus Progressive Club, some 300 guests were greeted by Mrs. Henry in an organza mauve gown with a companion cape. Mrs. Smith wore for her son's wedding a gown of pink organza. Both mothers were honored with corsages of roses and baby's breath.

An employee at Detroit Metro Airport, the bride is a graduate of Romulus High School. Her husband, who works for Greyhound Bus Lines in Detroit, graduated from Lincoln Park High School and later served with the U.S. Army for four years.

Hosted by the bridegroom's parents, the rehearsal dinner was held at the Brass Bell in Belleville.

BPW's fall season to open with speaker from Cancer Society

The Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club will open its 1980 fall year with a dinner and program at Denton's Faith United Methodist Church at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 8.

The Membership Committee, consisting of Evelyn Griffith, chairman, Anne O'Beay, Virginia Bruder and Irene Whalen, is in charge of arrangements.

"Decade For Decision: Time of Action" with 1980-81 program topics of health, energy and economics will be the Club's theme.

The September program will feature a straight talk by Laura Fox Smith from the American Cancer Society stressing vital information of breast and uterine cancer.

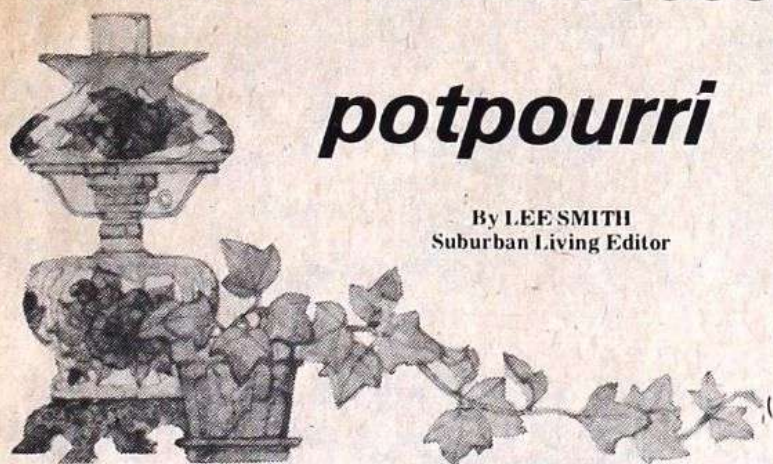

The Ypsilanti and Romulus Business and Professional Women's Clubs have been extended special invitations to this traditional birthday month meeting.

Other persons are welcome and reservations may be made for the $5 dinner by calling Evelyn Griffith at 697-8542 after 6 p.m.

Quotes worth quoting . . .

"We hope that, when the insects take over the world, they will remember with gratitude how we took them along on all our picnics."

Bill Vaughn said it.

potpourri

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

My dear late mother, who was among the many Depression era brides, was probably the nearest thing to an unprofessional "expert" when it came to economizing with food. Her thriftiness and knack in the kitchen, therefore, were instilled in me (the eldest of five) at a mighty early age — about 10, when I began learning the routine that comes with pots and pans.

Having grown up with a grocery store as my second home, I became the "little cook" when Mom was storekeeper and Dad away at his job. Anything that was going to waste — fruits and vegetables losing their appeal, a pork or beef roast not selling, lunch meats reaching their butt ends — was scrubbed, peeled, marinated, chopped or otherwise readied for the most tasty and appealing meals you could imagine.

Whenever Mom decided on a pie-making session (it was usually a Saturday when Dad was minding the store), she'd send one of the boys to pick out all the "rotten apples" — those with bruised or mushy spots. Doing a subtle surgery, she'd transform those winesaps, Jonathans or spies into the creations about which her sons boasted, "Our Mom makes the best rotten apple pie!"

Those ends of honey loaf, bologna, New York ham, veal loaf would be cut into pieces, browned carefully in bacon fat and then topped with sliced onions which would steam when a little water had been added and lid popped atop the pan. After about 20 minutes of simmering, additional water (or leftover meat broth) and flour would be stirred into the mixture and, Voila! we'd have "Butcher's Special" for dinner. The name often played the most important part when Mom put a new dish together cuz those brothers-four always demanded to know, "What's THIS called?"

Along with "the" freshest bread for dunking (it was delivered daily in those days) and a few side dishes, of course, we'd have one of our favorite Saturday night meals.

My own daughters were introduced to their Grandmother's specialty a long time ago (ring bologna standing in for the cold cuts) and to this day one of 'em will occasionally remark that "It's sure been a long time since we had 'Butcher's Special.'"

When cabbage wasn't selling and there wasn't time to go the old-fashioned route, our live-in chef would layer the vegetable with tiers of rice, hamburger and onion and come up with a Dutch oven full of "Lazy Man's Stuffed Cabbage."

So it's come to be that I always hesitate about tossing out a little of this or a bit of that. Leftover sauce from last week's barbecued country ribs (when the kids were home) turned out to be the ideal way to dress up tonight's green beans. And the few spoonfuls of spaghetti sauce from another meal were used in lieu of chili for "spaghetti dogs" (spiced up a bit with tabasco and topped with diced onion and cheese) for Pete and BG's after-golf meal on Sunday.

I guess it's come from years of practice for me. But, with a little imagination and ingenuity, any homemaker can put leftovers ANY place but down the disposal or in the garbage. Today's groceries just take too much out of a hard-earned paycheck to simply grind down the pipes.

Just one more little suggestion if you tend to forget what's tucked away — keep a list right on the door of your fridge (use a pretty magnet) and remind yourself what the Tupperware and oleo tubs are holding. It's rather a fun challenge seeing what you can do!

Judy Jordan of Belleville gave us a call last Thursday and she was full of enthusiasm for the new zucchini bread she'd baked the night before. Said it had some new ingredients in it, such as bananas and rolled oats, and that it was quite delicious although a bit on the heavy side. But that's the way it's supposed to be, right?

So — here's another novel way to use some of that squash that's so abundant in your garden.

ZUCCHINI-BANANA BREAD

- 1½ cups flour
- 3 tsp. baking powder
- 1 tsp. salt
- ¾ tsp. cinnamon
- 1 cup regular rolled oats
- 2 large ripe bananas
- ¾ cup sugar
- 2-3 cup vegetable oil
- 2 large eggs
- ¾ cup zucchini, unpeeled and grated
- ½ cup chopped walnuts

Mix dry ingredients together and set aside. Beat bananas on high speed until finely mashed making 1 cup. Add sugar and oil and blend at high speed. Add eggs, one at a time, beating until well blended each time. Add dry ingredients and mix on low speed until just moistened. Fold in zucchini and nuts with rubber spatula. Spread in a greased and floured 9x9 pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean.

TRIVIA FOR THOSE WHO COLLECT VALUABLES...

A state law in Utah requires drinking establishments to post (in a prominent place) the warning that "The drinking of liquor may be hazardous to your health."

Betcha didn't know that there are more cows than people in the state of Nebraska.

And also betcha won't believe it but — research shows that ex-convicts make very successful businessmen.

Once considered decadent, pizza has now been accepted in Russia. And it is taken with a glass of juice (unlike the cold beer so many Americans favor.)

According to government figures, it costs $3,500 a year to raise a child. And that's only until the child reaches the age of 18 and then costs jump considerably.

THE BOTTOM LINE: An optimist looks at an oyster and expects a pearl; a pessimist looks at an oyster and expects ptomaine poisoning.

Waters clan gathers at Al Dolph home

By Mrs. Joseph Spring
699-4021

Paula Dolph and friend, Mary Ellen Fenneffey from Pittsburgh, Pa., spent the weekend with Paula's parents, the Albert Dolphs of Edgar Street. On Sunday a family gathering and potluck dinner were held at the Dolph's home.

Members of the Waters family attending were Mrs. Dolph's brothers and wives, Mr. and Mrs. Don Waters and son, Jim, from Huntington Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Dillon Waters from Ann Arbor; a sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Butler from Milan; a niece, Susan McAlpine from Vista, Calif.; the Jerry Dolphs with Jeff and Erik from Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mericle attended a wedding reception at Metropolitan Hall in Warren Aug. 23 for Brenda Rice and John James Provenzano Jr. who were united in marriage at Ye Old Village Park in Plymouth in the afternoon.

Luncheon guests recently at the East Huron River Drive home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Corzine were cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Soule of Vistaburg and Mrs. Laurence Short and Harold Hayes from Midland.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Seaman and houseguest, Mrs. Myrtle

Sherlock from Glendale, Ariz., were among members of the McDaniels family who gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDaniels at Westland on Sunday, Aug. 24, for a potluck dinner and family reunion. Other members came from Beaverton, Royal Oak, Taylor, Auburn Heights and Carleton.

Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mrs. S. C. Pierman were Mr. and Mrs. Jon McClory Sr. of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Elwell and daughters of South Lyon; Mr. and Mrs. Scott Preuninger from Manchester, and Mr. and Mrs. Jon McClory Jr. from South Lyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Taylor left last Thursday for their home at Belle Vernon, Pa. after having been guests of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Gras for several days this past week.

Mrs. Douglas Wright of Dundee spent several days this past week with her father, Leon J. Boldt of Roland Street.

Mrs. Clayton Saunders and Mrs. Ray Van Sickle have returned from Crystal Lake near Beulah where they had spent several days with their friend, Mrs. Harold Klais.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wain of Largo, Fla. were callers last Monday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Tator.

Mayor and Mrs. Justin Emerson returned home last week from Norwalk, Conn. where they had spent a week with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Groeschner and children, Kari and Mark.

After having been a patient at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor for two weeks following surgery, Ted Lupher is now convalescing at his home on Karr Road.

Mrs. Muriel Smith has received word of the birth of her sixth great grandchild, Benjamin Russell, to Mr. and Mrs.

Glenn Brown of South Lyon on Aug. 23, at Womans' Hospital in Ann Arbor, weight 7 lbs.-4½ ozs. He is also the grandson of Jack Smith of Detroit.

Joanne Loria, daughter of the Robert Lorias, has returned from Colorado Springs after spending two weeks with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Williams and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hatch and their daughter, Mrs. Frank McCoy of Ann Arbor, enjoyed dinner together Aug. 25 at Forbidden City Chinese Restaurant in Ann Arbor. The occasion was in celebration of the August birthdays of the two ladies.

Mrs. Dan Nieland and small daughter, Corey Anne, of Owosso were guests this past week of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith.

A one-time Belleville resident, Mrs. Hugh Bozeman, now of Fort Worth, Texas, arrived on Aug. 25 to spend some time with her sisters, Mrs. M. C. Fielder of Henry Street and Mrs. Marian Douglas of Ypsilanti and other relatives.

Tracy and Wendy Traskos, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Traskos, recently returned home from Highland Beach, Fla. where they were guests of their aunt, Mrs. Eileen Lindemann, for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Maki have returned to their home at Stillwater, Okla., after spending a week with the former's parents, the George Makis of Quirk Road and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. William Henderson and Mrs. B. P. Hopson enjoyed a long weekend recently at the former's cottage on Mercy Lake in the Irish Hills.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mericle were friends, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Terry and family from Gladwin.

Gertrude Mason, Virginia Wall, Alice Herkimer and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wall enjoyed the train ride to Toronto, Ont., toured the city and attended the Canadian National Exhibition last week.

Ruth McAtee of Ann Arbor entertained at dinner Friday evening, Aug. 22, in honor of her mother, Mrs. Frances McAtee's birthday. Also present were members of the family, sons George and Phillip, Mrs. Hazel Bryan and a friend, Homer Cothran.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Tator were Wednesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Walton at Toledo, Ohio.

Members of Belleville Assembly No. 49, Order of Rainbow for Girls, enjoyed a swim and pajama party recently at the home of the Worthy Advisor Debbie Smendra at Lake Point Pass. They also did a little golfing one day last week at the Putt-Putt Golf Course on Belleville Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mericle motored to Toledo, Ohio last week to help Mrs. Mericle's mother, Mrs. Miles Berkey, celebrate her 82nd birthday.

Scouts return from Toronto

Girl Scout Troop 223 of Romulus South Junior High School has returned from a 3-day trip to Toronto, Ontario having traveled by train from Windsor and back. The eight girls and two adults made their headquarters at the YWCA, branching out from there to visit Casa Loma, the Ontario Science Center, the Metropolitan Zoo, Ontario Place and the CN Towers. Subway, streetcar and bus transportation provided new experiences for many of the group.

The girls earned money for the trip by selling tickets collecting old newspapers, and holding a car wash with their parents providing additional support.

Those enjoying the Canadian sojourn were Bernadette Austin, Lisa Edwards, Amy Marvicsin, Cindy Neidemeyer, Sue Omarzu, Margaret Savage, Mary Savage and Robin Smith and their adult companions, Joan Omarzu and Jean Savage.

Other girls who comprise the troop, which has Fay Savage as a co-leader, are Kim Hubbard, Regina Means and Lisa Nettle.

Toronto brought to a climax a year which included camping, field trips and proficiency badge work. The girls' goal for next summer is a week at Mackinac Island as guides.

The troop will resume regular meetings Sept. 11 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at Romulus South Junior High School. Meetings are open to any interested girls in grades seven, eight and nine, whether former Scouts or new to Scouting.

For further information, call Jean Savage at 941-4077.

Old homestead is setting for Sears family reunion

The annual Sears family reunion, which had its beginnings in the late 1940's, was held Aug. 24 at the 66-year-old Sears homestead at 757 Savage Rd., Belleville.

Some 119 were present to enjoy horseback riding, horseshoes, games, races and a big variety of food.

The homestead, now the Michigan School of Horseshoeing, is owned by Red Tomlinson who was a guest along with his two assistants.

Family members attending were Laurena O'Brien of Livonia; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Weiss and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Weiss and two children from Madison Heights; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Race and son and Joseph Race of Livonia and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Race and daughter of Belleville.

Also taking part in the fun were Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Mida of Westland; the Robert Bakers of Belleville; the Casper L. Seares, their daughters and grandchildren from Ypsilanti; Mr. and Mrs. Bart Sears and children of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. George Blevins and their seven children and spouses (a total of 25 from Ashland, Ky.); Monica Mendez of Belleville; Florence Akans and Neil Akans and children of Flat Rock; Mr. and Mrs. James B. Sears and family from Trenton, and Mr. and Mrs. James B. Sears and children of Romulus.

Still others were Marcella Matthews and son, Tim, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ihlenfeldt and children of Belleville; Elizabeth Sears, Florence Miloch and Harold Sears of Mt. Clemens; the Donald Fairs, the Tim Burden family and the Robert Stevens family, all of Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fair Jr. and the Joseph Krasny family of Ann Arbor, and J. Stanley Sears and daughter Jacqueline and her two children from New Boston.

Free immunization services set at WCC

Washtenaw Community College will be providing free immunization services to children needing these inoculations for enrollment in preschool or day care centers on Sept. 9 from 3-5 p.m. State law requires that all children enrolled in such centers be immunized. The services are available to all children in the area at no charge.

Included in immunizations to be given are those for mumps, rubella, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis and polio. The program is being administered through the Michigan Department of Public Health in cooperation with the College. Parents are asked to bring their children along with any prior immunization records to the new Family Education Building at the College at 4800 East Huron River Drive. For further information about the immunization clinic, please call WCC staff at (313) 482-2230.

Lioness Club aids students

The Lioness Club of Belleville has put the profits from its recent money-making ventures to good use. Brock Nigg, a student at South Junior High School, has received $100 from the treasury to help defray his expenses when he represents Michigan and the United States in wrestling competition in Iraq.

And, too, a $250 scholarship check went to Bridget Johnson, a graduate of Belleville High School, who will be continuing her education (with assistance from the Lionesses) at the University of Michigan this fall.

The group is also very proud of its first prize award received for its float entry in the recent 4-H County Fair parade.

"WE PUT THE MAKINGS OF A DELICIOUS PORK DINNER INTO ALL THE SAUSAGE
WE MAKE."

The best way to make sausage delicious is to make it with the best cuts of pork.

So at Bob Evans Farms, we don't settle for just the pork trimmings like some other companies do. Instead, we include all the choice fresh hams and tenderloins in every pound of sausage we make.

Then we limit the fat. So you get lean sausage that cooks up plump and tender every time. Not greasy.

And there's nothing artificial in Bob Evans Sausage. We use no preservatives.

So try Bob Evans Farms Sausage. Because our breakfast sausage is so meaty and delicious, it could even be the makings of your next dinner.

PLAY TIME

Wayne Festival race nears... ...but turtles are slow to arrive

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Playtime Coordinator

Suppose they gave a turtle race and only human beings showed up? Imagine the inaugural Turtle Open Race at the Wayne Homecoming Festival without any turtles.

It almost happened. Organizers of Sunday's turtle competition soon discovered that these speedy reptiles are pretty scarce in suburbia. Pet stores are not stocked with an overabundance of turtles, racing or otherwise.

But don't fret. There will be a spectacular turtle race Sunday afternoon at the Wayne Festival. And it might yet become one of the annual highlights of this four-day event.

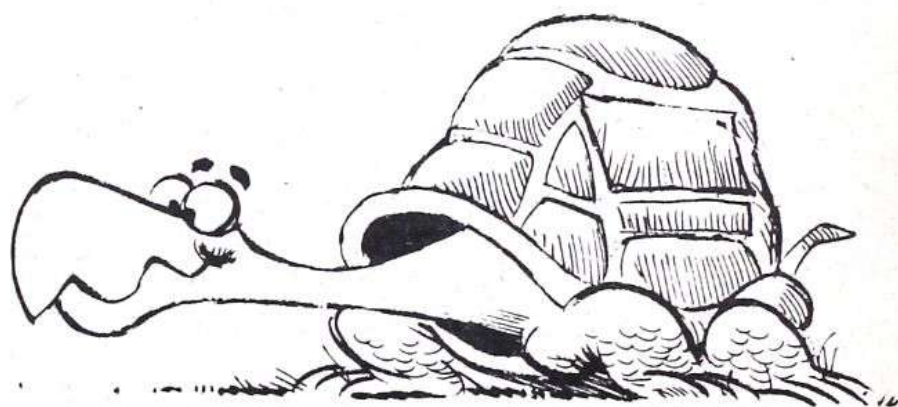

A shipment of 50 painted turtles was flown into the area from Louisiana last week to match talents on the race track.

Bill Sovoda, owner of a local tropical marine imports store, ordered the show's stars at the request of the turtle race promoters. Anyone wishing to enter the competition can purchase an imported turtle through Wayne City Hall for $2. Race time is scheduled for 3 p.m.

"I never dreamed we'd have such a problem getting turtles," remarked Dick Clark, a member of the Wayne Festival Commission. "We got the idea for the turtle race from a similar event they hold each year in Ontario."

"It started out with 50 or 60 turtles and now they draw about 400 and have 2½ days of preliminary heats. We're hoping to add a little pizzazz to our festival, some kind of theme event. If it catches on, it will generate more enthusiasm."

"Then we find out that you just can't go to the store and buy turtles."

Enter Sovoda. After several calls to turtle distributors, he finally found a Louisiana outlet for the needed reptiles.

"Turtles are a seasonal item — like hula hoops," the Wayne wholesaler explained. Nobody carries 50 turtles in their tanks. Maybe four or five.

"It's my understanding that turtles can be only sold for exhibition, education or scientific reasons," he added. "That's because they found a couple years ago that turtles can carry a bacteria. They're not supposed to be sold over the counter as pets."

Registration for owners and their turtles is being conducted at the city hall. All money collected from the $1 entry fees will be awarded to the top finishers in the grueling test of speed.

All competitors will spend the night before the showdown sequestered in turtle stables under the watchful eye of a turtle master. Three turtle judges will view the race from a judging tower with the names of all owners and turtles placed in a special turtle program.

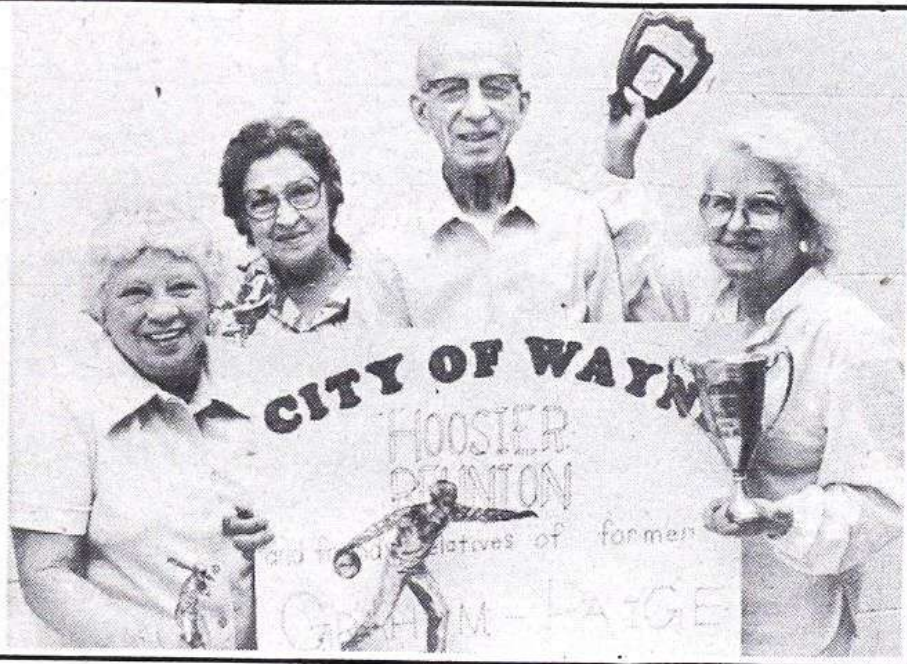

And after the race?

"We'll probably take them to the river and release them," Clark answered.

Those two-inch Louisiana racers may be a bit homesick after their late arrival. However, the river would seem a preferable resting site than turtle soup.

Hoosier reunion

In 1927 a number of Loogootee, Indiana families moved to the Wayne area as the Graham-Paige car company relocated its plant in Wayne. On Sunday the city of Wayne will honor those workers and their families at a Hoosier picnic from noon to 5 p.m. at the Wayne Homecoming Festival (Michigan Ave. and Wayne Road). Hosting the picnic will be four of those Indiana natives — Pearl Bledsoe (left), Marcella Brothers, Francis Burger and Maxine Brown.

Two anglers recently spent some time on Ford Lake during a fishing trip. Look for their observations on Page 2.

Fishing Lines

By BOB SAWITSKI

Two anglers' observations on a recent fishing trip:

Last weekend I went fishing on Ford Lake in Washtenaw County with Dennis Lewis of Westland. We noticed several things that didn't quite set well with us.

For instance, the lake water was very dirty, which really isn't unusual for Ford Lake. But at the end of the day, our boat's hull was coated with a gritty substance from the algae and pollution, and this residue practically had to be removed with a hammer and chisel.

Additionally, Ford Lake, along with neighboring Belleville Lake, has an extremely high coliform content during the summer. Coliform doesn't harm fish, but swimmers can come down with eye, ear, nose and throat infections, so bathing isn't advised.

In fact, J.Y.R.O. (which stands for Joint Ypsilanti Recreation Organization) Park on Ford Lake is posted with "no swimming" signs. And the brochure you're given when you enter the park clearly states that swimming is prohibited.

In spite of all this, the lake was literally crawling with water skiers and swimmers.

We spotted a Washtenaw County sheriff's boat on the lake, but didn't witness him issue any warnings about the potential hazards of immersing one's self in Ford Lake's filth.

But we were happy to find that the heavy boat traffic and inferior water quality hasn't hurt the bass fishing. We mostly fished the fallen timber along the heavily wooded shoreline and when my favorite array of weedless lures didn't produce any fish, I started casting a medium-running crankbait between the blowdowns and brought it back to the boat with a stop-and-go retrieve.

This obviously was the secret of coaxing the bass out of the cover. We caught, released and lost more bass than we could count.

The trick was not sticking with one certain color for any length of time. Basically, I used three different color lures — a chartreuse crawfish, natural bass, and a green perch. If I hooked and lost a bass, I switched colors. Generally, the fish would hit a second time.

Now picture this — we were fishing in water eight to 12 feet deep, it was extremely hot and sunny, and we were casting in and around fallen timber. Any seasoned bass angler would automatically assume we were catching largemouths, right?

Wrong! They were smallmouths!

I've occasionally noticed smallmouth bass taking up residence in structure normally associated with their larger cousins. Smallmouths by nature prefer colder, clearer water than largemouths and, while largemouths hang around weedbeds and brushy cover, smallmouths opt for rocks, gravel and sand bars.

Some observations from Ford Lake

After this experience last weekend, I am absolutely positive there is some type of change occurring in the habits of Ford Lake smallmouths. But it may be more of an availability of food than any biological factor.

The favorite food of smallmouth bass is crayfish. Sure, they eat minnows, leeches, worms, insects and the like, but crayfish top the list. And the Huron River, which flows through Ford Lake, supports an abundant supply of the hard-shelled critters.

This is only a guess, but I suppose it's possible that both smallmouths and walleyes, in addition to largemouths, have wreaked havoc on the crayfish population which, due to the dams, are prevented from replenishing their numbers except by natural reproduction. Therefore, small mouths leave their usual haunts when it's time to eat because there are no crayfish hiding in the rip-rap, and head for cover where forage fish congregate.

If there is any truth to this, then a bucketfull of live crayfish should be worth their weight in gold to a bass fisherman on Ford Lake.

What's That Sound?

By STEVE O'LEARY

Cars hit home with new 'Panorama'

THE CARS
"Panorama"
(Elektra)

"Panorama," the Cars' new album, reinstates them as one of America's most interesting, brightest, and invigorating musical vehicles. After the disappointment of "Candy-O," the Cars have come up with an LP every bit as good as their self-titled debut, if a little less accessible.

Even though it sold well, "Candy-O" was nothing but a poor attempt to copy the brilliance of its predecessor. This time though, the band has retained its sense of natural progression, and as a result "Panorama" is as modern as Gary Numan could ever hope to be, while maintaining the distinct commercially viable sound that earmarks the Cars.

On many cuts, typical song structure is replaced by a more adventurous type; a bit avant-garde, but not to the point of self-indulgence. Ric Ocasek's lyrics are best when conveying a sense of tinted imagery (which they usually do), with each sentence meant to evoke an emotion from the listener. For example, here's a few lines from one of the album's best cuts, "Gimme Some Slack": "The seven floors of walkup—The odor musted cracks—The peeping keyhole introverts—With the monkeys on their backs."

Elliot Easton, who's guitar work in the past has been fine but sparse, really gets a chance to stretch out here, and with excellent results. Greg Hawkes' punctuating keyboards are in dazzling form too, never playing too much, but always making his presence felt. The same can be said for bassist-vocalist Ben Orr and drummer David Robinson. As a matter of fact, each Car is essential to the unique sound of the band, and it's that cohesiveness that has made the Cars one of the most popular groups in the world of rock'n'roll. All the pieces fit together perfectly, and songs like "Misfit Kid" and "Don't Tell Me No" are bound to join "Let The Good Times Roll" and "Best Friend's Girl" as classic

American pop tunes.

Check out "Panorama." It might be "just what you needed . . ."

Pretty Things
"Cross Talk"
(Warner Bros.)

In the late 60's and early 70's, the Pretty Things were a better than average band with a small but fanatical following. When they broke up a few years ago, it seemed too bad in a way, but there was no doubting the fact they had become stagnant; their time had come.

So the members went their separate ways, but all with the same end: failure and obscurity. As a matter of fact, vocalist Phil May's last solo album was one of the biggest atrocities ever to violate my eardrums. But that's not the record in question here, "Cross Talk" is. Predictably enough, it's barely worth the vinyl it's pressed on.

Obviously, the band figured they should reunite to cash ($) in on whatever fans the Pretty Things' still had. After all, they had nothing to lose, did they? The album isn't as bad as some that are put on these days by washed-up has-beens trying to make a comeback (Mitch Ryder, for example), but there's certainly nothing here to warrant a second chance either.

Not very interesting, but not particularly offensive, the Pretty Things are doing nothing that hundreds of other bands aren't doing, and doing better at that. Chalk this one up under "waste of time."

Rollie Hudson

Renowned organist to perform in Wayne

Nationally known organist Rollie Hudson, who has excelled as an instructor, radio performer and recording personality despite his blindness, will appear in concert at 7:30 p.m. September 12 at the Yamaha Keyboard World in Wayne.

Hudson will also perform mini-concerts from 2 p.m. until 4 p.m. the same day at the Yamaha Keyboard World in Livonia. There will be no charge for the performances.

A Chicago area organ teacher for the past 20 years, Hudson created the popular Chicago radio program, "Organ Scrapbook." His most recent organ record, "On Top of the World," was performed on the Yamaha Electone Organ.

Hudson earned a master of music degree from DePaul University in Illinois.

Winner by a hair

Facial hair will become the center of interest this Sunday afternoon during a beard contest at the Wayne Homecoming Festival. Braxton Robbins (left) gets ready for his judging duties by putting the ruler to the beard of Ed Rowe, the event chairman. The competition is scheduled for 5:30 p.m.

Festival organizers

People make the difference when it comes to planning and organizing any event. This week's Wayne Homecoming Festival is no exception. Working behind the scenes to prepare for the four days of activities are members of the Festival Commission — general chairman Al Damitio (left), Kathy Beeny, Sharon Popek, Ed Rowe and Dick Clark (foreground).

Theatrical season to open

Polly Rowles, one of New York's most distinguished actresses, has been cast in a leading role in the comedy-romance, "Thieves' Carnival" which will open the Meadow Brook Theatre's 15th anniversary season, October 9th (Thursday) on the campus of Oakland University near Rochester.

Miss Rowles will portray an aristocratic English lady who knowingly invites a trio of thieves to a house party at her lavish villa in a fashionable resort in France to "break the monotony of another dull holiday." Unexpectedly, her niece falls in love with one of the thieves who plans to rob the villa.

Miss Rowles' extensive career has included outstanding performances in London's West End, on Broadway, in Holland and on television. Some of her many Broadway credits include "Forty Carats" with Julie Harris, "No Strings" with Richard Kiley and Diahann Carroll and "Look After Lulu" which was adapted and directed by Noel Coward. She also created the role of Vera Charles in "Auntie Mame" with Rosalind Russell on Broadway.

She is remembered by Meadow Brook audiences for her performances in "Ring Round the Moon" and "The Show-Off." Those who buy season tickets to Meadow Brook before the September 8th deadline will see all eight productions for the price of seven. For information about subscriptions to Meadow Brook's forthcoming season, call the box office at 377-3300.

ARIES March 21-April 20

Aside from the first two or three days, you have a low cycle week here. Don't tempt the fates by trying to get more out of yourself and others; take things as they come.

TAURUS April 21-May 21

Starting something new? This is the perfect time! Be careful though how you go about it, others are watching you and admiring you. Keep poise and dignity at all times.

GEMINI May 22-June 21

Don't try to settle an argument at home by yourself. You tend to take sides and make enemies! Allow another party to carry the ball, just give your support.

CANCER June 22-July 23

Catch up on projects that have been neglected lately. Don't put them off any longer or you'll have more than explaining to do! Shine as host or hostess this weekend.

LEO July 24-August 23

Money is the key for this entire week and more! You get depressed and your first impulse is to spend. Don't—unless you really want something to be depressed about! Control is the key.

VIRGO August 24-Sept. 23

Don't give up on a project just because it's going slow! You get results by the weekend. Though it may not be finished, you do get encouragement to go on, so keep with it.

LIBRA Sept. 24-Oct. 23

Personally you have a really good week with many high days; however, those close to you may need some pick-me-up! Set aside time on week-end to cater to their whims, it's the best!

SCORPIO Oct. 24-Nov. 22

You have a situation to handle this week that is more than just delicate, it takes time and trouble to evaluate. Don't go at it blindly or haphazardly, take the time and use the energy.

SAGITTARIUS Nov. 23-Dec. 21

Don't bother yourself with incidentals this week, dedicate time to reason problems through and find out just where you are and where you are going. Use weekend to think.

CAPRICORN Dec. 22-Jan. 20

Some kind of vacation is what you and yours need! If it can't be arranged, plan a short excursion over weekend. Make your mind up to explore and enjoy and you'll do no less.

AQUARIUS Jan. 21-Feb. 19

You may have to "butt in" where another is involved in order to help them do the right thing especially concerning money! Don't let your emotions go against your judgement.

PISCES Feb. 20-March 20

Stay in the background this week like last and help another rather than think of only yourself. You are on hold for a while, use weekend to show support and cooperation.

Can they stop Rogers?

By DENNIS NIEMIEC

Stop Rick Rogers.

That will be the game plan for opponents of Wayne Memorial's football team this fall. Slowing down the 6-2, 200-pound senior tailback, however, may become a case of "Mission Impossible." At least Coach Floyd Carter hopes so.

"Rick is the best tailback I've seen in the past 11 years," declared Carter, who's entering his ninth season as head coach of the Zebras. "He can do it all — run hard inside or sweep around the end with good speed (4.6 for the 40). Our offense is designed to get him the ball.

"The big time schools are recruiting him. He'll also play linebacker on defense and handle the kickoffs for us. And he can throw the ball 70 yards lefthanded," Carter chuckled.

Wayne will need a healthy Rogers (All-League in 1979) and much more to improve on its 5-4 record and third place finish of last year in the tough Great Lakes Eight Association. Graduation losses have decimated both the offensive and defensive lines and with only 12 lettermen returning this looks like "a scrambling year," according to Carter. How well the new personnel fare in the trenches could hold the key to the Zebras' title chances.

There's plenty of talent and experience at the offensive skill positions which should produce an explosive attack.

Returning quarterback Rick Covault (5-10, 165) is considered a double threat with quick feet to run the option and a strong arm to keep defenses honest. The senior will also start at strong safety.

Seniors Ken Taube and Daryl Hamlin will alternate at fullback and Larry Wilson is set at slotback. Wilson (5-8, 160) will be used on counter runs and pass plays in Carter's slot-I formation while manning the safety spot on defense. Taube (5-9, 165), a "tough cookie" according to the coaches, will also start at noseguard with Hamlin seeing double duty at defensive tackle.

At the receiving end of Covault's aeriels will be wide outs Gary Mazurek (5-10, 150) and Steve Radley (6-0, 165). Both seniors double as defensive backs.

Two newcomers will handle the tight end chores — junior Hal Gorton (6-4, 185) and Tony Bass (6-0, 170), the lone sophomore on Wayne's 38-man roster.

A rebuilt offensive line will be anchored by senior Bruce Rize (6-2, 200), the only returning starter. Rize is rated a Mid-American prospect as an offensive tackle and ranks as one of the most talented and physically imposing players on the squad, Carter noted.

Listed as offensive line regulars are senior guards Brian Cooper (5-8, 160), and Roy Buchanan (5-10, 175); junior center Mark Sanford (6-0, 160), and junior tackle James Nesbitt (5-9, 190).

"We believe in simplicity, the key is execution," explained Carter, who picks Lincoln Park and Fordson as the teams to beat for the league crown. "With the changeover we've cut down on what we'll do up front. On offense we'll try to control the ball and exploit our quickness. The line is the big question mark but last year we started a 5-foot-4 guard and did okay.

"Our philosophy is to play the best kids," he continued. "That's why you'll see about 13 kids handling most of the load."

Carter's 5-2 defensive alignment features offensive starters Rogers, Covault, Wilson, Taube, Hamlin, Mazurek, Radley, Rize, Buchanan and Sanford as first stringers going both ways. First-year player Mike LaBlanc, a 5-11, 180-pound senior will open at defensive end with backup support coming from senior Jack Muncie (5-10, 170).

Graduation also took its toll on the kicking game, leaving the punting chores to senior Rick Middleton and the placekicking to senior Wayne Davis. Junior Mike Novick is a backup punter and also will spell Covault as a signal caller along with Matt Korte.

"If nobody gets hurt we can challenge for the championship," Carter predicted. "We rely on quickness, toughness and conditioning — Rize and Rogers are our biggest starters at 200 pounds.

"When we play Fordson, Lincoln Park and Monroe back-to-back we'll see what we've got," he added. "We open at home against Belleville (Sept. 5) and that should be a dog fight too."

Assisting in the coaching duties are Jim Raling, Mike Henry, Don Chastain, Jim Zoltowski and Kevin Wilson.

Barr: 'No delusions of grandeur'

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

Plymouth Canton's new head football coach, Rich Barr, has no delusions of grandeur.

He inherited a big rebuilding job after Canton had a dismal 0-9 season last year and no one is more realistic than Barr about the future. But the 39-year-old veteran mentor, who served the past eight years under Tom Moshimer at Plymouth Salem, has a wealth of experience and looks forward to a very rewarding season.

Of course, this is the time of season when all grid coaches are apt to suffer from pangs of positive illusion. After all, the team has looked reasonably good and they are still undefeated.

However, the grid campaign starts in earnest this week and the Chiefs will travel to Livonia Bentley to play the Bulldogs at 7:30 p.m. Friday. Barr will know a lot more about his squad after the game than he does after three weeks of pre-season practice.

Canton's defensive crew is a bright spot for the first year head coach Paul Furiuso and Craig Earns will anchor the line in a 4-3 defense that should be very strong. Earns, a 6-3, 225 pound giant, is a potential All-Stater and big college prospect. "He's the best we've got up front and he's a real tough man to move around," said Barr. "He's strong and powerful and we're expecting a lot of good things from him."

Furiuso, like Earns, is a returning letterman and has 210 burly pounds on his 6-1 frame. "He has strong upper body and is a good tackler," Barr said.

Lanky, solid Dan Jurek, a 6-3, 205-pound senior, and junior Ken Jayroe, a 6-foot, 150 pound starter on the JV squad last year, will man the ends. "Jurek is a solid, tough hitter and Jayroe is a hard-nosed aggressive player," Barr assessed.

Heading the list of six linebackers battling for three starting jobs are Scott Brookhouse, a 5-11, 180-pound senior transfer from Colorado. The strong-running Brookhouse will also start a fullback on offense.

Others fighting for regular linebacking jobs among Barr's 30-man squad are Jeff Cousino, Ed Pierangelino, Fred Rumberger, Chris Koch and John Gray. Many of Canton's gridders will go both ways, Barr said. His team is comprised of 15 seniors, 13 juniors and two sophmores. Barr is encouraged by the presence of nine players from last year's Canton JV squad which compiled a 6-1-1 record.

The Chief secondary will feature Bill Childs, the starting quarterback, who will probably play both ways. "Childs had good ability to read the option and is quick with a strong arm," Barr said. "We will go with the triple option, which is new to Canton, but which Salem has used with great success over the years." Jamie Chilcoff, at 5-10, 165, and Todd Abrams, a 6-foot, 165-pounder, will join Childs in the secondary.

Slated for cornerback duty are junior Tom Wennerberg, a 6-1, 166 pounder, who did not play last year. Mike Clayton, a quick 5-8, 155 pounder; Chick Davis, a 5-11, 160-pound sophomore; and 5-8, 170-pound Steve Hamblin, a powerfully strong tackler, are others at the corners.

Others who have shown much promise on defense are

With a new coach, the Chiefs hope to improve their grid image.

Chuck Farden, a 6-foot, 160-pound junior end, who will also play tight end, and 5-8, 185-pound Todd Roberts, a senior who is fighting for a starting berth at defensive tackle.

Canton's offense needs a shot in the arm over last year's performance and Bill Childs is the one who will lead the Chiefs' attack at quarterback. Battling for the number two spot is Pat Murphy, a good-looking 6-2, 165-pound sophomore field general, and Chris Susock, a 6-1, 170-pound junior, who led the JV squad to its impressive 6-1-1 mark.

Leading the running corps will be Brookhouse, a good runner up the middle at fullback. Slated for halfback duty are David Simms, a speedy 5-8, 150-pound junior; Hamblin, a power runner and good blocker; Clayton, who has power, quickness and good moves; and Davis who Barr describes as "100 percent dedication, determination and a hard runner."

Barr is also expecting outstanding play from tri-captain Chris Koch, a 5-0, 180-pound senior who leads by example and hopes to see plenty of action at halfback.

Craig Earns, Canton's biggest player, who also is an outstanding blocker and has good hands, will be moved to tight end. He will be spelled by Rob Reed, a 6-1, 160-pound senior who played regularly last year. At offensive tackles will be Bruce King, a 6-3, 180-pound senior, and Fred Rumberger, a 6-2, 165-pound junior who was a JV starter last year. Both are excellent blockers, according to Barr.

Starting guards will be Jeff Cousino, a 5-11, 165-pound junior, and Ed Pierangelino, a 5-9, 171-pound senior, who are rated among the best blockers on the team. John Gray, a 5-11, 165-pound senior, will split his playing time between guard and center.

Tri-captain Mike Dupuis, a 5-6, 170-pound ball of energy, and junior Dennis O'Flynn, 5-11, 180, will snap the ball.

Speedsters Jamie Chilcoff, a fleet junior, and senior Todd Abrams will share duty at split end. Kicking for the Chiefs will be O'Flynn, who kicked a 40-yard field goal in the intra-squad game and has looked excellent so far.

Barr sees Livonia Churchill and Walled Lake Western as the pre-season favorites in the Western Six League. "It's a good balance league and there are a lot of good teams in it," Barr said. "But I think we have a very good chance. I'm very optimistic, the kids are very enthusiastic and are working very hard. The team has looked very good, and even though we're not a very big team — for the most part — I think we will play a very good brand of football."

Belleville's soph coach Sam Colletta (first at right) has a lot of rebuilding to do. His lieutenants are also ready to do the job - they will face Wayne Friday night.

Rebuilding, Romulus rivals faces a 'tough schedule'

When you don't have crosstown rivals or league championships to shoot for it's difficult to build tradition.

That's what Romulus High has been faced with for the past few years. The Eagles are an independent and "a grab-bag team", says head football coach Don Foley.

"The schedule this year is a difficult one," Foley stressed. "And it's getting tougher and tougher each year because of the fact that we have to play teams as they call us. We don't have a league schedule."

"We also have had difficult opening day opponents the past few years, therefore, we can't build a tradition. When you don't have any crosstown rivals to play fans usually don't get excited," Foley said.

Foley who will launch his fourth year with the Eagle gridders on Sept. 5 says he's not blaming anyone for the predicament. "Bill (Bill Hardy, athletic director) has a difficult job as it is, but until we get a more realistic schedule, I don't know what we're going to do."

Although Foley's words sound like the knell of doom, he and his assistant coaches — Terry Bird and Dennis Stoh — are looking forward to the pending campaign.

"We ran a camp this summer and there was a lot of enthusiasm. It was really encouraging, however, we just need more bodies," the Romulus head coach said.

One body that will be noticeably missing is that of swingback Rich Hoth, who is putting his athletic talents to use for St. Francis Cabrini. "Rich's loss is going to be a great blow to our program," Foley said.

But, despite the negative charges that seem to be discharging from the Eagle mentor, Foley does have a strong offensive and defensive line he can bank on. Randy Champagne, the team's captain, is the heart of that line. An outstanding athlete who checks in at 6-feet, 190 pounds, this two-year starter is slated to see duty as a guard and linebacker.

Champagne forms the nucleus which includes Tim Summerfield, another two-year starter who is a senior center that can be switched to either a defensive end or linebacker. Summerfield's 5-10 and 180-pound.

Mark Schich, a 6-2, 185-pound split end, also a regular for two years, along with Jeff Wensko, a part-time starter who is 5-11, 175-pounds will be used as a guard and defensive end.

Look for Aaron Johnson, a senior with two varsity years behind him — he's a 5-11, 200-pound guard and Sam Reeves, a 6-0, 175-pound griddler who is a "utilityman to use in the thick of the action."

Foley also can rely on a couple of last year's reserves such as tight end Dale Eddings (6-1, 190 junior) and halfbacks Johnny Holifield, a junior.

Holifield and Johnny Rupert are presently locked in a two-way battle for the starting halfback slot.

Romulus had its problems, especially early in the season a year ago, getting on the scoreboard. Foley hopes that Marty Knight, who took command midseason at quarterback and did a formidable job, will be able to pick up where he left off.

Also, Foley sees the addition of Greg Webb, a 6-1, 205-pound transfer from Missouri as another key link in the Eagles' run for a winning season.

Webb will be trying to get the fullback job away from Marcus Oden. Oden was a starter last year as a defensive halfback.

Anytime a team is small in numbers — as is Romulus (only 39 players have checked in) injuries could determine the outcome of the season. "We just can't afford them (injuries)," Foley pointed out. "We know that there will be some, but our summer camp has helped us in conditioning and mental attitude. That counts a lot."

A winning season for the Eagles in 1980?

With teams like Royal Oak Shrine (Sept. 5 opener), Ann Arbor Huron (Sept. 19), Jackson Parkside and Ypsilanti (Oct. 31) — all traditional powerhouses, the Eagles will need all the breaks they can get.

GOOD LUCK! To our ROMULUS HIGH EAGLES

Franklin: David in Goliath league

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

"If I'd realized how many 5-foot-9, 150-pounders we had on our squad this year, we probably wouldn't have fielded a football team this fall."

Armand Vigna, the cagey veteran coach from Livonia Franklin, was speaking and if you believe him, there's a bridge we'd like to sell you. The diminutive grid mentor, entering his 23rd year of coaching, will lead his sixth Patriot team as head coach after many years as an assistant.

He always seems to be crying the blues, but he always seems to field a team that will knock your block off. Joined by his "partners in grime" — George Lovich and Gerry Cullin — Vigna was lamenting the fate that the coming season held in store for him.

"I'd be happy to play .500 ball," he said, glancing over his shoulder at last season's 3-6 record overall and 2-3 in the Northwest Suburban League. "North Farmington and Redford Union have to be co-favorites to win our league title this fall. North Farmington and an outstanding JV team, has fine speed and you can't beat Ron Holland as a coach. Redford Union has a bunch of giants over there that all look 6-5, 250 pounds and they will be real brutes this year," Vigna lamented.

"One more thing, don't forget to keep an eye on Livonia Churchill this year. Coach Ken Kaestner came over and borrowed 10 football helmets that ranged in size from 7½ to 7¾. I accused him of having gorillas over there. He said, 'We have little kids with big heads.' When he didn't return the helmets after more than a week, I asked him if his 'gorillas' ate our helmets," Vigna chuckled.

No one enjoys good-natured kidding about football anymore than Vigna, but no one is more determined once the whistle blows to start action.

Leading the Patriots attack this season will probably be senior Scott Lovich, a 5-9, 165 pound quarterback who runs the option attack better than his two challengers for the position. Juniors Chris Panzl, a 5-11, 170-pound passing whiz, and Steve Smith, 5-10, 170-pounds, who runs and passes the best of the three, are also looking good.

At fullback, Vigna is looking to Tim Poe, a 6-0, 150-pound junior and John Waling, a 5-8, 150-pound senior, who broke his collarbone last year and missed several games. Ron Gunter, a 5-6, 150-pound scooter leads the tailback contingent, and is being pressed by junior Mike Minnielly, a 5-8, 160-pound runner, who was the JV team's outstanding back last season.

Mike Antal, 6-1, 160-pound senior, and Paul Snyder, at 5-9, 150, will handle the flanker position, while Bill Check, a 5-9, 150-pound senior, will start at split end. You can be sure Vigna wants to cash a lot of "Checks" in the endzone this year.

Franklin's ever-powerful defense, which is always tougher than a gorilla with a toothache, will again be rugged.

Watch out for Salem's Rocks

Hit hard by graduation, Moshimer still has a contender

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

Any football squad that loses every starter but one offensive player and one defensive man could certainly expect to have a rebuilding year.

But not Plymouth Salem.

Veteran coach Tom Moshimer lost every starter but two from last year's Rock team that posted a 7-2 season mark and 4-1 for a second place finish in the tough Suburban 8 League, yet, the highly-rated mentor is once again looking to make a run for the league championship.

Salem has finished second the past two years in the Sub 8 League after winning it all in 1977. Last year the Rocks lost to league champ, Edsel Ford, by a score of 12-7. In 1978, league champion Trenton edged Salem, 21-16.

Moshimer's teams are always rated among the best in the area, if not the state. And it's no different this season.

Led by a rock-ribbed defense, the Rocks hope to get their wish-bone offense in high gear behind a trio of talented quarterbacks to be a title contender. Heading into this first week of the season against always tough Livonia Franklin, three signal-callers are neck-and-neck in the battle for the starting job.

Senior co-captain Joe Garcia, 5-8, 165, and juniors Kirk Soluk (5-11, 155) and Jeff Hubert (6-1, 175) will guide Salem's attack. "Garcia has the edge because of experience but we plan to use all three of the quarterbacks," Moshimer said. "They all have something valuable to offer our offense."

Starting at halfback will be Co-captain Brian Lewandowski, a 6-foot, 175-pound senior, and Dave Skone, a 5-9, 170-pound scooter who saw limited action last year.

Bob Pittaway (5-11, 165) and Dave Slavin, a 5-11, 180-pound sophomore, are looking good and will also see action. Power runner Darrel Bartkowiak, a 5-10, 195-pound junior, will be the dive man in the Salem wishbone attack at fullback.

Up front, Salem will have plenty of beef to clear the way for runners, but they will be missing their biggest man — Rob Hanschu, a 6-3, 230-pound tackle, who suffered a stress fracture on a small bone in his foot. "We'll really miss Rob and hope he will be able to play as soon as possible," said Moshimer. Hanschu will definitely miss the opener against Franklin and it is doubtful just when he will return to action.

Even so, Salem will have plenty of offensive power with John Penders (6-0, 190) at center; Steve Szilagyi (5-11, 190) and Jeff Scott (5-10, 160) at guard and seniors Richard Wooley (5-10, 185), Greg Staron (6-1, 210), and Marty Piper, 6-4, 215, at tackle. Junior Ed Skotzke (5-11, 165) will play center when Penders moves to guard, and Moshimer also has senior Wayne Craig, a 6-foot, 210-pounder for guard duty and Doug Bemiss, a 6-foot, 150-pound junior tackle, who is improving all the time.

Mark Kitz, a 6-2, 170-pound senior, and Gary Workman, a 6-1, 155-pound senior, will handle the tight end position. Senior Jim Spooner, who stands 5-9 and weighs 145 will use his quickness at split end, and Geoff Baker, a 5-10, 130-pound junior will also see action at that spot. "We're limited in our pass-receiving corps right now," Moshimer said, "but if they work hard, we hope this aspect of our game will come around."

On defense, many of the same names will be heard over the public address system. For instance, Wooley will replace the injured Hanschu at noseman in the Rocks' rugged 5-2 defense. Staron and Piper will handle defensive tackle slots while Kitz and Pittaway will start at defensive end. Workman and Slavin are also slated to see plenty of action as "bookends."

Szilagyi, a well-known name around Plymouth Salem parts, leads a linebacking crew that also includes Penders, Bartkowiak and Skotzke. Matt Rulhmann, a small but mighty 5-6, 145 pounds, is a "quick" junior who will help spell Wooley at noseman on defense.

In the secondary, Garcia is a returning starter at one cornerback spot and Skone, will handle the other corner.

Strong Safety will be Brian Levandowski with back-up help from Geoff Baker, while Kirk Soluk will start a free safety support from Jeff Hubert. Ron Brewer, a 5-8, 160-pound senior, and Jeff Swanson, a 5-11, 165-pound junior, are working hard as cornerbacks and should see quite a bit of action.

Moshimer pointed to perennial powerhouses Trenton and Dearborn Edsel Ford as favorites to take the title. "But keep an eye on Dearborn," he warned. "Trenton has great backs and the edge in experience, but Dearborn could be a real sleeper. They have more returning starters than anyone in the league."

Moshimer was especially pleased with his defense in the 4-way scrimmage last week, but said the offense showed it still needs plenty of work. "Our offense has to get much better. We're going to be a very good defensive football team. But we must throw the ball better and have better execution," he explained.

"The wishbone offense is not a catch-up type of offense, so we're counting strongly on our defense to shut down the other team."

Salem's kicking game will be in the hands of Lewandowski and Skone, who will do the punting, and Lewandowski and Staron will handle the kickoffs and extra points.

Franklin : David vs. Goliath

Using a pro-style 4-3 defense, Vigna has John Kalinovic, a 6-0, 185-pound junior, at one defensive end and junior Kevin Dunbar, a 6-4, 215-pound mountain, anchoring the other end. Senior Rob Hurst, who is a hard worker and does a lot of lifting of weights, will throw his 6-feet, 182 pounds at enemy ballcarriers from a defensive tackle position. The other tackle spot is a 3-way battle between junior Dean Langley, 6 foot, 200 pounds, and a pair of burly seniors, Ben Turel, a 5-9, 190-pounder, and Chris Whalen, 6-foot, 185 pounds.

"We don't have much experience up front, but hopefully our boys will learn fast," Vigna said.

Three-year starter Ron Lohman leads a fine contingent of linebackers. Combining his 6-feet and 180 pounds of controlled fury, Lohman made all-league and all-area last year and is a real fighter. "Ron's a super competitor, he's a winner and they just don't come any better than this middle linebacker," Vigna beamed.

Helping plug holes in the line will be Tim Poe at left linebacker and Mike Kay, a 5-11, 185-pound junior. Panzl, when not quarterbacking, will handle linebacking chores, along with Dennis Picard, a 5-8, 160-pound hard-hitting junior, who is also coming on strong.

Speedy Ron Gunter, besides running from tailback, will use his 5-6, 150-pound quickness at left cornerback on defense. Tom Pollard, a 5-10, 180-pound senior will start at left safety, while 6-1, 160-pound Mike Antal has earned the nod to start at right safety. Paul Snyder and Bill Check, both 5-9, 150-pound seniors, are battling to get the call at right cornerback.

"We lack experience," Vigna repeated when discussing various segments of his offensive and defensive alignments. "We have a total of four starters back on offense — and that's counting one part-time player and another one who has switched positions."

What about Franklin's poor kicking game?

"If people thought University of Michigan had a bad kicking game, they should have seen us last year," Vigna quipped. "We were so bad, we planned to on-side kick every time we had to kick-off. However, we chickened out and finally just laid the ball on the ground and squib-kicked each time."

Things are looking up, however, for the red, white and blue-clad Patriots. Tim Poe has been punting the ball with authority and Bill Check has been doing well on kick-offs and extra point attempts.

Franklin opens with a real head-banger at Plymouth Salem Friday at 7:30 p.m. If it's anything like last year's 12-9 Patriot victory that wound up with Salem on Franklin's 8-inch line when time ran out — it will be "Maalox time" all season long.

Rough road for Vikings

Inkster's head football Coach Arnice James would like to think his team would be able to take the two steps up and finish atop of the league this season.

James knows better.

After finishing 0-8 in 1978, James's Vikings climbed to third place (4-5) in the Suburban Athletic Conference a year ago and this year he sees the perennial Class A power, Highland Park, extending its reign.

"How can you ever disregard Highland Park? Coach James asked. "They have three junior highs feeding into their system. On numbers alone, they have to be considered the class of our league."

In comparison, Inkster is a small Class B school which has been able to hold its own in the SAC. This year, however, the going could be worse, James warned.

"We're very inexperienced and green. And we only have 32 players playing varsity and only eight returning from last year," James pointed out.

James and his two assistant coaches — William Morgan and Joe Coleman — will unveil their 1980 Vikings at 3:30 p.m., Friday, Sept. 5 when they take on DePorres. They'll hit the road to Madison Heights the following week (Sept. 12), then open the SAC campaign on Sept. 19 against the defending champ at Highland Park.

With Kim Hammons returning to the quarterback slot, Inkster should have no problems getting someone to run the team.

Kim also can launch the ball with pinpoint accuracy. And, with Chris Starks, a 5-11, 160-pound speedster who will hold down the split and slot, and tailback Robert Claypoole around Hammons will have ample targets.

Vikings lack experience

9 senior also will play one of the linebacker's positions. Coach James will be able to unleash another stud, Derrick Wyatt, against his grid foes. Wyatt, a 6-2, 205-pound junior, earned all-league considerations a year ago, and should continue to be superb this season.

The Vikings also have experience in center Steve Robinson a junior who will double as a tackle. He's 5-7, 195 pounds. Joining Robinson on the line are Kelby Knight (6½ - 180), a tackle and up-and-coming prospect Howard Mabry, a 200-pound, junior guard whom the Viking coach says "has a lot of potential."

James can also be happy about the return of Alfonso Baskin, who could develop into one of the premier fullbacks in the SAC. When not in the offensive backfield, Baskin will be used as a linebacker.

Inkster could have been a 6-3 team a year ago, but injuries proved costly, according to Coach James. Would he be satisfied with that kind of record this year.

"After our first couple of practices, I'd say, 'Yes'," replied James. "I can't believe how green this team is."
